UNH Representatives On 'Who's Who' Chosen

Thirteen Seniors, One Junior Named; Faculty Helps Make Selections

Thirteen seniors and one junior have been selected by a committee composed of faculty and students to represent the University of New Hampshire in the 1945-1946 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Chosen on basis of character, scholarship, leadership and prominence in extra curricula activities on campus, these students will be ranked along with other outstanding students throughout the country.

The purpose of Who's Who is to serve as an incentive to students to get the most out of their college careers, as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done, as a recommendation to the business world and as a standard of measurements for students.

The following students are the newly selected members:

Joseph Bennett, Newmarket, N. H. — Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Student Council, treasurer, 2, president, 4; Class President, 3, 4; Student Veterans Advisor, 3, 4; Student Veterans Governing Board, 3, 4; College Chest Fund Committee, 3, 4; Varsity Sports.

Outing Club Sponsors Informal Dance Nov. 17

Fay Emerson and his band will play for the informal dance to be held at New Hampshire Hall this Saturday evening, November 17. The dance is sponsored by Outing Club and will be held from 8 to 11:30. The price is 60c per person and tickets will be sold at the dance.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. William A. Medesy, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Condit.

The general dance chairman is Betty Collins. Committees are: Band Claire McQuillan, chairman, Nancy Ferguson; Decorations, Eloise Braun, chairmen, Elsie Deming and Jean Ashton; Heelers, Rebecca Fairbank; Refreshments, Laura Hamm, chairman, Myrtle Hilton; Tickets and Posters, Polly Averill, chairman, Jane Whitney; Chaperones, Grace Shaylor, chairman, Alvan Hiller.

Musical Club Starts On Campus Nov. 19

A new musical organization is being developed on the campus of the University of New Hampshire through popular demand. The purpose of this club is to unite all students interested in music in a common body to act as sponsors for student musical activities on campus, and to help promote a greater interest in music among the student body.

As far as the group is concerned, the program committee will promote a series of lectures and small recitals to be given to the group on their stipulated meeting nights — the first and third Mondays in every month. The members of this organization are at liberty to bring one or two guests each to designated open meetings.

The club is open to all students who have completed eight hours of credit in the music department. Freshmen or transfer students who will have completed the eight hours by the end of the year are also eligible.

This meaningful organization is new to the campus and is under the sponsorship of Miss Margaret Olson, instructor in violin in the Music Department.

All those interested and eligible are asked to come to the first meeting next Monday night, November 19, at the Pine Room in Ballard. During this first meeting, which will start promptly at seven, the constitution will be approved, officers elected, and a general program for the year will be discussed.

Hamilton Smith Library Exhibits "Arts in Therapy"

"The Arts in Therapy," a Museum of Modern Art exhibit, opened on Friday, November 9, in the arts division of the Hamilton Smith Library at the University of New Hampshire.

Through this exhibition, the museum shows how art may help in the development of personality of all ages and in the rehabilitation of the handicapped. Newer developments in the therapeutic application of art are introduced along with the already well-known occupational therapy methods.

The exhibition has been compiled by specialists in various fields of therapeutic work and gives a cross-section of the application of art for therapeutic purposes covering visual tests, medical analyses of creative work of students and patients, and creative media and the crafts employed in therapy. It is of particular value to teachers and students of modern therapy.

Closing date for the exhibition is November 30.

Dear Solicitors:

Thanks to your help, we went over the top in our drive.

You took it well. Admittedly, it is rather a shock to get that card in the mail telling you that you are to solicit. Then at the meeting, just as the impossibilities of the whole idea are getting you down, we announce that we want $1.25 from each student. You groaned then, but then, but before Thursday came around you had changed face and came through with flying colors.

Your fine spirit has set an example for the solicitors of other years to follow. Your money will now be used for relief and rehabilitation and for the spread of that same spirit of cooperation among the people of the world.

Appreciatively,

Helen Fay, for the

Elections for Class Officers, Nov. 27

At the special Student Council meeting held at the council headquarters last Tuesday evening at Ballard Hall the council set the date for the election of Class Officers for November 27.

All petitions must be turned into the Deans' office on or before November 19 and any which are not passed in on that date will not be accepted later.

The elections will be held at New Hampshire Hall at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on November 27.

Flying Club Plans Resumption of Group

There will be a meeting of all those interested in flying at the Organization Room in Commons at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 24. Plans for reviving the UNH Flying Club will be discussed.

The group will either buy and maintain a plane, or buy flying time. If a plane were bought, some veterans have agreed to instruct prospective flyers and cut operating expenses to three dollars an hour. If the plane were kept on a commercial field the cost per hour would be about five dollars.

A set of rules will be drawn up to govern the organization and actual flights. Temporary officers will be elected to operate the club.

Sociology Club Meets Elections Are Held

The second meeting of the Sociology Club was held on Tuesday, November 13, in Room 202 Morrill Hall under the leadership of Gloria Davidson.

A tentative program of speakers was presented and short talks were given by Dr. Coulter and Mr. Green, advisor of the club. Nat Barron told of her work at the Framingham State Reformatory during the past summer.

Elections were held and the following officers elected: President, Gloria Davidson; Vice President, Hope Trefren; and Secretary, Janet Dadson; Treasurer, Joyce Chandler. The following were elected to serve on the Program and Social Committee: Jean Gartner, Alice Dineen, Jane Elga, Betsy Shortell, Pat Parker, and Margery Byers.

SENIORS TAKE NOTICE

All proofs must be returned on or before November 20, 1945. Failure to do so may result in elimination of pictures from the Granite. Return the proofs to Granite Office, Ballard Hall.

SMC Supper and Meeting Held Sat. from 2-10 p.m.

Miss Fern Babcock, Program Coordinator of the National Student Council of the Y.W.C.A. will be a visitor on this campus from November 17 to November 19.

Saturday afternoon a meeting will be held at the Highland House from 2:00 to 10:00. Supper will cost .75 and those interested are requested to notify the SCM office.

Miss Babcock was graduated from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kansas. Her M.A. degree is from Teachers College, Columbia University. European travel includes attending two conferences of the World's Student Christian Federation, one in England in 1924 and one in Switzerland in 1933, and participation in the European Seminar conducted by Sherwood Eddy.

Name Band for Mil. Art Ball Dec. 8

A military ball without the military! Yes indeed, the good old days are certainly on the way back to the UNH campus. On December 8 we're going to have a military ball sponsored by a peace time ROTC completely unmolested by GI regulations. (Does anyone recall the days when the STARS and ASTP's had to get special permits to stay out any later than eight o'clock?) With the paper shortage almost completely alleviated there'll be dance programs as in pre-war days, and, of course, all the glitter and splendor that a military ball can bring. The cadets will wear their uniforms, and plans are being made so that the veterans may wear theirs. Can you imagine the wonder of it all — to know that the fair ladies you see on the arms of their soldier escorts will not have to bid tearful farewells when they leave them at twelve-thirty that night, but can say, "Until tomorrow" or "I'll see you in class on Monday."

The band for this gala event promises to be an excellent one — a big time band, and this time no one is kidding. The price is no object and negotiations have already been started. Moreover, an attempt has been made to bring Life magazine to Durham to photograph the event. And there will be plenty to interest both Life and its readers. During the dance one of the beautiful girls attending will be selected as the Honorary cadet Colonel, and it will be her privilege to waltz with the commanding officer of the Cadets, Steve Aliopoulous.

The dance committee, handling plans for the ball, consists of CO Steve Aliopoulous, ex-officio; Dick Mascot and Dick Stark in charge of music; Bob Novack, publicity; Arthur Flanagan, decorations; and Billy Metcalf, refreshments.

Phi Kappa Phi Elects Ten to Membership

Phi Kappa Phi, the highest honorary scholastic society at the University of New Hampshire, has recently elected the following to its membership: Faculty member, Mr. Harold C. Grinnell, Associate Professor, Agricultural Economics, and Assistant to the Dean of the College of Agriculture; College of Technology, Frank B. Marcotte; College of Liberal Arts, Beverly Blodgett, Elizabeth J. Curran, Bernice Hayden from Pembroke, N. H., Rita Serlick, and Jean Steacie.

Equals Professional; Realistically Acted

A play which is a hit with a professional cast is not necessarily a hit as an amateur production, but Hugh Herbert's Kiss and Tell had the audience rolling in the aisles all through its three comedy-packed acts last night in New Hampshire Hall in the first of a series of three performances.

Mike Coombs was one of the outstanding players of the evening as Raymond Pringle, the roller-skating boy scout with an eye for business and a nose for trouble. Completely at ease, Mike stripped several years from his life and became a real 12-year-old even to his voice, which cracked and quavered and ranged from soprano to bass.

Corliss Archer was played by Barbara Mackay with refreshing enthusiasm and naturalness. She has that well-scrubbed, healthy appearance which her part calls for as well as being very easy to look at.

Casting Leon Stevens as Mr. Archer must have presented no difficulties because they seem to be one and the same person. Leon's voice has those qualities which the stage requires in diction, carrying power and change of mood. The reputation he earned last year in Claudia is raised still higher by his fine performance in Kiss and Tell.

Leon Grodzins, who may be known in the future as "Holy Cow," loosened up as the play progressed, to play the love-sick Dexter Franklin in typical teen-age fashion, while Lucille Uhr made a vigorous and authoritative Louise. Mrs. Pringle, Elizabeth McClelland off-stage, stormed through her scenes with much success.

Mildred Pringle, better known as Barbara Sharrock, was a convincing 17-year-old, looking all the time as if she were really in love which is just what she was supposed to be doing. Constance Armstrong as Mrs. Archer shouldered maturity gracefully, acting with poise and assurance.

Dick Gangi as Private Jim Earhart and Steve Aliopoulous as Lieut. Lenny Archer conducted their respective romances with credit. Each performance should see them doing a better job. Jane Phipps as Mrs. Franklin can chalk up another mark of success, and Robert Piper made a dignified Mr. Franklin. Warren Meyer drammed a lot of justified exasperation into his short role and Lee Albee was every inch the cheerful and paternal Uncle George. Realism was the keynote of Norman Selzer's portrayal of the jubilant Mr. Pringle, while Cotton wagged her way through the part of Marchbanks like a veteran performer.

The typical back porch setting was designed by Donald Clough. A large measure of the play's success is due to the efforts of Director J. Donald Batcheller, Technical Director Wesley Brett, Ruth Flanders, and Ann Miller Morin who were assistants to the director, and the members of the many committees which worked with the comedy in all its phases.

Phy. Ed. Registration Monday, November 19

Physical education classes for the first quarter will end Friday of this week. Registration for the second quarter will be held Monday, November 19, at New Hampshire Hall from 12:45 to 4:00. No one will be allowed to register early or to register for any one else. Those people who cannot come at the specified time should come into the office on Tuesday or Wednesday morning.

Anyone having difficult schedules or limited in the type of activity they can take should be among the first in line at 12:45 Monday, so that they may register for the activity they want before it is filled.

Behind the Times

"I've got so much to do that I don't know where I'm at." Around exam time that's a stock phrase on campus. Everyone, then, is suddenly surprised to find himself with anywhere from two to six weeks' work on his hands and only days to complete it in. The library is crowded to overflowing, and many battles ensue as to who is to get the last chance at the last book on the shelf in which the outside reading was assigned. Lights burn way into the morning in the dorms, and everyone goes around during the day with circles under their eyes and a belligerent expression on their faces. Sometimes classes are cut so that a little last minute boning can be indulged in before the exam that is due the following period. All in all, it is a very sad and trying period for faculty and students alike.

And, much as we hate to admit it, this is not due to the wrath of the gods, the irony of fate, or even the unrelenting grudges of the poor professors involved. No — it's much more simple than that. It's usually the simple fact that all this work, assigned weeks before, was just put off until the last minute in favor of nights at the movies, a few hands of the bridge in the smoker, a coke at the Wildcat, or even a gala week-end away from the stodgy dullness of an all-too-familiar campus. It's usually because good intentions got snowed under by too many outside activities and too much fooling around. It's usually because the factor of time and how best to utilize it was not taken into consideration, or taken into consideration and then forgotten. It's sad to relate but these seem to be the facts, and the results of these facts in the grades received are not always pleasant to contemplate.

Well, we've still got a chance to improve. Only half a semester has passed and before mid-years roll round our study habits can take a turn for the better. It has often been suggested that each student make himself a schedule by which to study, and if this is done and followed faithfully (say the few who have tried it) everything gets done on time, there's a surprising amount of time left over for fun, and exams can be passed without danger of losing one's health. We know this is all an old story. You've heard it so many times that it sounds more like fancy than fact. But believe us, it's something you might look into one of these days. You might be pleasantly surprised.

Dungarees Again

After all the hullabaloo to make the girls stop wearing dungarees, we were surprised at the HELLABALOO to find dungarees the passport for admission (along with the seventy-four cents, of course). This is all very fine, but our one-track mind would like to keep things straight. Fellows, have you rescinded your demands, or are you just plain inconsistent?

Doctor Jazz

by Chris Cornavidis

I was asked by a certain jazz hound if I had submitted my ballot to Metronome's All Star Band Contest. To which I answered in the affirmative. This is my selection:
Lead alto: Johnny Hodges. Hot alto: Charlie Parker. Clarinet: Benny Goodman. Tenors: Coleman Hawkins, Arnette Cobbs. Baritone: Harry Carney. Lead Trumpet: Buck Clayton. Hot trumpets: Roy Eldridge, Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Shavers. Lead trombone: Vic Dickenson. Hot trombones: Jay C. Higginbotham, Lawrence Brown. Piano: Teddy Wilson. Guitar: Oscar Moore. Bass: Slam Stewart. Drums: Sid Catlett. Miscellaneous instrument: Lionel Hampton, Vibes. Arranger: Billy Strathorn. Male vocalist: King Cole. Female vocalist: Billie Holiday. Large band: Duke Ellington. Small band: King Cole trio.

It took me less than five minutes to fill out the ballot, which goes to prove the firm conviction I have in these men, who I believe play the best jazz, whether it be in a large or small band. I will admit I hesitated only twice in making my selections, namely about the ability of Parker on the alto, and Wilson on piano. It was a choice between Parker and Pete Brown, but the night I heard Parker he sounded superb, while Brown honked like mad (strictly Chicago stuff) reminding me of a fog horn. Wilson, on the other hand, had Art Tatum to contend with. Art is no slouch on the keyboard, having tremendous facility and ideas. When soloing Tatum has the bad habit of dragging in every imaginable song he can think of, at the moment, which adds nothing new to the melody, only forces the listener to strain his imagination. This may be Tatum's idea of improvising, but I don't like it. I should add, that when Art plays with a band, he can't be beat. Wilson excels as soloist and accompanist.

I can already feel the hot breath of the jazz followers down my neck. . . . Ah! ! for the life of a jazz critic.

"More farm life for me!"

New developments, offering advantages of speed and economy in construction, are being fully used in our program for extending and improving farm telephone service.

Among these are mechanical pole-hole diggers and plows for burying wire underground. Sturdier steel wire that permits longer spans will require fewer poles.

And we are experimenting with "power line carrier" to provide telephone service over rural electric lines. Radio, too, is being studied for use in connecting more isolated sections with telephone exchanges.

Providing more and better rural telephone service is part of the Bell System plans for constantly improving nation-wide communications service.

UNH Victorious 6-0 Nasson Inexperienced

UNH ended its formal hockey season with a victory over Nasson College last Saturday, and a tidy score of 6-0 to boot.

The rains held off for the game, which came close to being the best of the season — not merely because of the score, which helped of course, but because of the attitude of both teams. Before the game started, UNH was informed by the Nasson players that quite a number of the team had never played hockey before — it was obvious. Remarks such as, "This isn't at all like soccer, is it?" "How 'bout a basket," and "What's a long corner anyway?" drifted across the field, and N. H. began to wonder whether it was LaCross or baseball they were playing. We had to hand it to them though, every member was a perfect sport and played a good game no matter how little they knew about hockey. The Nasson goalie seemed to be well-trained in gymnastics, for she executed a spectacular split in front of the goal, trying to stop an onrushing ball — she missed, but the crowd roared and the game almost turned into burlesque. Even though the quality was slightly lacking, there was spirit enough to make up for it.

After refreshments, N. H. bid farewell to a busload of singing girls.

Goals for N. H. were scored by Ellie Smith, Lyn Bates, and Shelly Boyd.

UNH Places Eighth In Schell Regatta

On Sunday, November 4, the Erwin H. Schell Regatta at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology took place. Those who weathered the races through the snowstorm were: Al Coe, Bobbie Berger, Jean Deland, Dot Hanson, and Penny Cady. These six members of New Hampshire Yacht Club placed us ninth in the event.

Other than the girls' hockey game with Colby, Jr. this regatta is the only inter-collegiate competition this year in which the University of New Hampshire has been represented. In comparison with other years, our school fared well in making its mark among the first ten.

The order in which the other schools placed is: M.I.T., receiver of the Schell Trophy; Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy; Coast Guard Academy of New London; Holy Cross; Navy of Annapolis; Harvard; Northeastern; Brown; New Hampshire; William College; Tufts; Steven's; Rhode Island State; and Yale.

Is it true what they say about New Hampshire? Is it true that they are going to have two varsity teams this winter? Yes after a three-year lapse the powers to be have decided that now is the time to put the University back on the athletic map. They have done this convincingly with the announcement that a varsity basketball team shall step out on the polished surface with a fifteen-game schedule and then astounded the campus with the proclamation that the University is to have a varsity ski team also with a fitting schedule.

This news has been greeted with an unequalled amount of enthusiasm on campus and this goes to show that one of the basic foundations of a happy college life is sports. The University no doubt has become aware of this fact as evidenced by their actions in regards to sports and this leads to the thought the return to normalcy is now in the offing.

Well, enough of this idle chatter, so we'll turn our thoughts to the newly formed ski team, led and coached by Jerry Chase, ex of the Army Air Forces. Jerry was an ace cog in some of the great New Hampshire ski teams of a few years back and after graduation turned his talents to high school coaching. Then came the war and Jerry became Lieut. Colonel Chase of the Air Corps where he served with distinction. Now he's back at school working with a group of twenty-five hopefuls who are determined to represent the Wildcats in ski competition.

Several of the candidates have engaged in collegiate competition and have a little bit in the way of experience to present Coach Chase but the majority of the candidates have only high school experience and therefore he will not have too much to work with in regards to collegiate savior-faire. Time will tell!

Hoop-Alla

On first observation of the hoop schedule I remarked to a pal of mine that if things go right the Wildcats should have a better than average chance of having a winning year. Of course, my word is hardly the word of an expert but upon the release of the schedule I have made a brief study of a number of our opponents and find that they are a bit on the weak side. Grenier Field has an entirely new team due to the rapid movement of personnel and therefore will not be quite as polished as a unit that has played together for several seasons. The Maine schools — Bowdoin, Bates, Colby, and Maine will be starting more or less from scratch as both the Naval contingents at Bates and Bowdoin are expected to move out in the latter part of November and Maine and Colby

Notch Verdict Over East Quintet 52-51 in Tight Duel Played Wednesday

In a real thriller-diller played last Wednesday the Hetzel Second Floor basketball quintet annexed the Blue League crown by eking out a 52 to 51 victory over a powerful Commando aggregation from East Hall.

The duel was played on fairly even terms in the first quarter as both teams countered with each other shot for shot. The second stanza was played in the same fashion but with a few minutes remaining in the half the East outfit jumped into a four-point lead as they tallied on two fast breaking plays.

The Commandos wasted no time at the start of the third quarter as they jumped the count to a seven-point advantage over the Hetzel boys, and at this point it looked as though the Commandos had found themselves and would waltz off with the contest. The Hustlers had other ideas, however, as Greaser White and Andy Mooradian suddenly came to life and began to swish the twines with the all-important points and the duel became all tied up.

The Commandos once again went out in front with a nine-point lead in the latter stages of the third stanza and apparently the game was all wrapped up for the East cause but poor substitutions and a rekindling of the Hetzel spirit split the game into a wide open duel and as the waning moments of the game drew near the Hustlers went out in front to cop the fray and the Blue League title.

In the White League the East Pluggers knocked off the Hetzel First Floor aggregation to knot the League in a three-way tie for first. The game, played Monday evening, was a fairly close contest but the Pluggers had a little too much for the Hetzel boys and won 53 to 45.

The playoff for the title will be played during the remainder of the week and the winners will meet the Hetzel Hustlers for the Loop title.

W.R.C. on Weekend Trip To Mt. Chocorua

Last weekend the World Relatedness Commission headed by Robert Abell sponsored a trip to the World Fellowship Incorporated Camp in Madison, N. H. The meeting, held near Mt. Chocorua, was directed by Robert Abell, Helen Dunn, Ann Wiesen and Norma Gardner.

Ensign Leininger, New England Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement and Mr. Weller, Secretary of World Fellowship Inc., spoke to the group concerning Christian vocations and the scope of World relatedness.

Members of SCM who attended besides those on the committee were Lois Johnson, Mary Dannels, Ruth Chapman, Jean Garfield, Sally Barker, David Watson, Wesley Field, and the scope of World related-Helf.

have an entirely different and enlarged male population. Well, that's a thumb nail sketch of five of our opponents and let's hope that it presents a fair picture of what to expect when they parade out on the polished surface.

Diophragines . . .

Dear Students,

Durham went more rural than usual last week-end. The B&M took all "them damned city slickers" away Saturday, and the town settled down for its first barn dance of the year. Everyone went to the dance in old clothes except the girls who wore exactly what they wear everyday. Everyone took off their shoes and sox and danced barefoot; that is, except Dean and Mrs. Medesy (the old prudes!) But I have to give the "Captain" credit, he worked like a horse Saturday night!

A few of the boys went over to Dover that evening and brought back a pig (animal). They took him down to Commons Sunday to show the dietitian that ham doesn't always come with a "Spam" label. Incidentally, the pig wouldn't eat there; he must have gone downtown.

Definitions:

The act of being drunk: When a person feels sophisticated and can't pronounce it.

English: The universal language, spoken almost everywhere now except in England and Boston.

UNH co-ed: Always one of three things: hungry, thirsty or both.

Does your father use a straight edge razor? Does he cut the Thanksgiving turkey with a knife sharpened on a razor strop? Does the "old man" consistently lose on the horses and in business deals? Does he still persist in thinking that college is essentially a place to study? Does the "old codger" know that warnings are coming out? . . . If he does, you'd better come to my house for Thanksgiving. But you won't find me there!

WANTED

One way ticket to Cal,
And points west!

I would like to thank the chivalrous Student Officer who held my hand while crossing the street the other day to save me from the big bad black Buick. Horns to the right of me, horns to the left of me, into the valley of Main Street strode Diophragines — behind the Junior Student Officer.

Do you realize that there are only thirty-three more shopping days 'til Christmas? No. . . ? Well, there are! So that I might claim that I'm just as good as "Esquire," here are some Christmas suggestions. . . .

For your favorite professor — a steam shovel

For your girl (on campus) — a "Biltwell" catalog

For your house mother — a copy of "Child Psychology"

For your room mate — a mop and a bucket

For your parents — a Northeastern catalog

Once upon a time a co-ed went riding with a fellow. When they reached Durham Point he stopped the car and said: "Honey, there's something wrong with the engine." So — he got out, opened his tool kit, and proceeded to repair the engine; got back in the car and drove the girl back to campus.

Must've been a transfer!

With this, I beat a hasty exit!

Yours trilius,
Diophragines

NOTICE

The head dietitian at Commons has requested us to make the following announcement: "In order to prevent the necessity of students standing outside of Commons in all kinds of weather, enter the Commons through the middle door leading to the Freshman dining hall, past the Ping Pong table, down the stairs, through the cloak room and on into the dining room.

Civil Air Patrol

All you air-minded students — here's news! A requisition has been sent to CAP Headquarters in Concord asking for a plane for CAPC flights. It is scheduled to land at the Durham temporary airport or Portsmouth airport, depending on weather conditions.

At the last meeting held Thursday, November 8, suggestions were made pertaining to courses to be offered, including code, both elementary and advanced, navigation, pre-flight regulations, and a riflery course. Plans for a picked drill team were also considered.

The group was taken to the Photo-Visual office where combat films were shown. At 2100 members were dismissed.

An interesting and educational future has been planned for CAP on campus. Although no official recruiting has been done as yet, anyone interested in becoming a member of the CAP or Flying Club is urged to attend the next meeting of the UNH Detached Flight tonight, from 1900 to 2100 at the Field House.

AWS Holds Elections

At the last meeting of Women's Student Government on October 25, Jo Turner, temporary junior member, and Elizabeth Sawyer, treasurer, were elected to the executive council.

Those elected to the House Council of Congreve North were president, Carolyn Eaton; vice-president, Ann Whitehurst; secretary, Barbara Marden; treasurer, Pat Wall and social chairman, Audrey Parker.

The house officers of SAE are: president, Jeannette Lavoie; vice-president, Elmira Walker; secretary, Marcia Setzer; treasurer, Delores Maynard, and social chairman, Connie Shields.

NOTICE

There will be a Thursday supper trip to Mendum's, November 15, for Outing Club members. Sign up sheets went up on Tuesday morning, with the trip limited to twenty members. Outing Club tickets must be presented, and it is suggested that those who come bring a flashlight if possible. Trips will leave at 4:15 and 5 p.m. from Ballard Hall. Leaders are Betty Collins and Jane Whitney.

O. C. NOTICE

There will be a big I.O.C.A. Tech Cabin Trip over Thanksgiving week-end, November 24 and 25, at the M.I.T. cabin. Loads of fun with Outing clubbers from all the New England colleges! The New Hampshire quota is two girls and two fellows. If you're interested, sign up now with Jane Whitney at Theta U, Tel. (Durham) 174.

NOTICE

Any student absent from his last class on the day before Thanksgiving vacation or his first class following the vacation is subject to a fine of $5 for each absence.
