Ground-breaking Ceremonies for New Tech Building Held Friday

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the University of New Hampshire's new engineering building were held last Friday, Nov. 12.

Dean Seeley, whose College of Technology will occupy the new building, turned the first shovel of sod, and then bull-dozers and power shovels moved in to begin work on the foundation which is expected to be completed by the end of December. President Arthur S. Adams, State Agriculture Commissioner Perley I. Fitts representing the Board of Trustees, and other University officials watched the ground-breaking ceremonies.

T Formation

The new T-shaped structure will be the largest of the University's campus buildings and will cost an estimated $874,000. It has been designed for the expanding College of Technology which has 750 students enrolled for classes in DeMeritt Hall which was originally designed to accommodate only 360.

In addition to several more classrooms for the civil, electrical, mechanical and chemical engineering departments, the new building will house several "fellowship laboratories" for the use of the Engineering Experiment Station as well as students.

The new building will be located on College Road on the former site of (continued on page 5)

UConn Beaten 20-7 By Last Period Rally

By George S. Haselton

The never-say-die spirit of the UNH football team produced an outstanding, surprise victory over the invaders from Connecticut last Saturday by the score of 20 to 7 and enabled them to win the Yankee Conference Title. The Wildcats were inside the Uconn 10-yard line no less than seven times during the game but were often thrust aside by costly penalties or superb line play by the Nutmeggers. Thanks to an early Uconn score in the first period and a conversion, the Cats were behind for three periods.

IDC, IFC to Hold Celebration Dance After Toledo Game

The Interfraternity Council and the Interdormitory Council will jointly sponsor an after-the-game-dance in honor of the Toledo and New Hampshire football teams at New Hampshire Hall Saturday evening.

Couples will dance to the music of Jim Wiley and his band from Manchester. Dancing will begin at 8:00 p.m. and will continue until midnight.

The dance is the first of several affairs scheduled for joint sponsorship by the IFC and the IDC. Both organizations are cooperating in the decorating and arrangements for the dance.

Tickets, at $1.00 per person, will be available at the doors of N. H. Hall on Saturday evening.

Fraternity Rushing

The Interfraternity Council of UNH announces that all fraternities will hold OPEN HOUSE to which freshman men and transfer students are welcome, on Sunday, Nov. 21, between 2:00-5:00 p.m. Fraternity rushing will begin on Monday, Nov. 22 and will continue until Thursday, Dec. 9.

Just as the final quarter opened Carmen Ragonese inched over from the four-yard line to put the Cats ahead, and later in the stanza Bruce Mather tossed a pass 50 yards to Bob Mikszenas who dashed over for the clincher without a hand being laid on him.

Uconns Score Quickly

Connecticut received the opening kickoff and was forced to kick after making a first down. Pritchard took the ball on the Cat 17 but was tackled so hard that he fumbled the pigskin with Wolfe of the Nutmeggers recovering on the 21. The invaders quickly turned this break into their only score of the day. Dick Turshen went around left end all the way to the 4-yard line. After Gaudino was stopped cold, Bill Moll bulled his way through the middle for a tally. Then Peter Barry converted the all important extra point to give the invaders a 7-0 lead.

After an exchange of kicks Turshen fumbled at midfield with Art Rafferty recovering for the Cats. Ragonese then bulled his way for a 17-yard gain, and Gould gained 8 more to the foes 29-yard line. Ragonese took a pass lateral from Mather and galloped all the way to the 6-yard line. Everybody in the stands was hopeful that the Durhamites would quickly knot the count, but they failed to reckon with the Nutmeggers forward wall. Pritchard was thrown for a loss and Turshen intercepted a Mather pass. Pinsky then dropped back to kick but Maurice Ross broke in and blocked it with the pigskin going out of bounds. But, once again the Uconns rose up and stopped New Hampshire. Ragonese and Gould

Outing Club to Present Color Film on 1948 Winter Olympics

Hans Thorner

The much-talked about movie "The 1948 Winter Olympics" will be presented by the Outing Club tonight in Murkland Auditorium. The picture includes all the spectacular events of the Winter Olympics, dramatizing the great competitive spirit showed by the members of the 30-nation delegation.

Hans Thorner, noted sport pictorial photographer, and a six-man crew filmed the entire winter Olympics, at St. Moritz, Switzerland. They later condensed it into a 90-minute color-film of the most dramatic events complete with music and a commentary.

The film brings to the screen every athlete who contributed outstanding performances in all events. It contains a pictorial review of the Slalom, Fancy and Figure Skating, Ski Jumping, etc.

Steve Knowlton and Ralph Townsend, University of New Hampshire stars, were caught by the camera as they participated in the skiing events.

The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. and admission for Outing Club members is 50c and 65c for non-members.

Hunter Hall's Residents Become Proud Proxy Parents Overnight

Not a dissenting voice was heard as over 150 students in Hunter Hall voted unanimously at their last meeting to adopt a foreign orphan.

Hunter is the first dormitory on campus to undertake the adoption plan instituted by Foster Parents whose headquarters are in New York. The plan specifies that the adopting group send $15.00 a month to Foster Parents to be used for a needy foreign orphan who is either living at his home or in some institution.

Each resident of the dormitory is to contribute ten cents a month to the fund which has already swelled to the sum of $65.60. Not only will the support of the orphan be monetary but also "spiritual". Letters and packages will be sent at frequent intervals as well as the monthly allowance.

Hunter has specified its intentions of adopting "a boy between 12 and 15 years old in Europe for the duration of one year." A picture of their prodigy will be forthcoming in a month.

The idea was first proposed by House Director Mrs. Durrance who had heard of it while visiting out West. Many universities and groups have already adopted foreign children. Among the notables enrolled in Foster Parents are Mrs. Truman and Perry Como.

Other dormitories, hearing of Hunter Hall's plan, have considered following suit.

The paternal spirit seems to have already pervaded the dormitory. One student while depositing his ten cents was heard to remark, "I've just become a father!"

Are the terms "religious" and "practical" contradictory? Popular opinion notwithstanding, there is strong evidence here at UNH that the answer is no. Evidence supporting this verdict may be found any Wednesday noon in the Student Council room, upstairs in the rear of Notch Hall, where a small group of students have been meeting to discuss ways and means of putting religion into action.

This group is the Social Responsibility Commission of SCM. The members of this commission believe that one of the most important aspects of their Christian faith is service to their community — local, national, and world.

In the short time that the commission has been organized this year it has already enacted two projects along these channels; the intercultural study group which meets Thursday afternoons at four o'clock to discuss racial problems and the supply of absentee voting forms at Notch Hall have both been sponsored by the commission.

N. H. Race Relations

This is just the beginning, however. Plans for the rest of the year include such things as investigating the problem of race relations in New Hampshire and possibilities of bettering them, providing Christmas entertainment for the State Hospital in Concord, and an information program designed to focus the attention of UNH student-citizens upon the activities of our representatives in the 81st Congress.

The group which has attended the meetings of the commission so far has been very enthusiastic, but not very large in numbers. In fact, they seem to literally have more ideas than members to enact them. For that reason a cordial invitation is extended to all students who are interested to sit in on a meeting any Wednesday noon.

The only prerequisite to joining is the desire to put your religion into practice through some concrete form of service. All other matters, even SCM membership, are secondary.

Notch Sponsors "Wreck" Dance; Tutoring Service Starts Plans

There will be a "Wreck" dance Friday night, Nov. 19, at the Notch. The dance is under the joint sponsorship of the Commuter's Committee and Miss Rabethge's Recreation Leadership class. Students are asked to come in any "wreck" costumes that they can create, such as shipwreck, automobile wreck, airplane wreck, etc.

The dance will begin about 7:30; as soon as the big football rally is over, and will end at 10:45.

Anyone having any room in their cars for students going home on week ends please leave your name at the S. U. office for the transportation pool.

A tutoring service is being set up by the Student Union with information available at the S. U. office.

There is a well organized baby-sitting service in operation now. Any parents who want sitters should contact the S. U. office, and any students that would like to apply for jobs should leave their names at the office.

Over three hundred people attended the football dance that was put on by the Social committee last Saturday night. Music was by the Five Kats and a Kitten, and the chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Shorb.

Work is being started on a list of chaperones to be kept in the S. U. office so that groups wanting chaperones may locate them quickly from this approved list.

Mask and Dagger Production Melodramatic But Satisfactory

By Bill Bingham and Dottie Flowers

For a strictly amateur production of Miller's All My Sons, the Mask and Dagger Society gave a satisfactory performance last week, but hardly more.

Burns Mantle included All My Sons in his Best Plays of 1946-47, and it also received the Critics' Prize for the same year. However, after spending two evenings watching two different casts give their versions, we find this hard to believe.

Mr. Miller has written a dramatic play; the director and the cast have only succeeded in making it melodramatic. This was particularly apparent in the character portrayal of Ann, the heroine. This unfortunate actress had to put over incredibly trite lines such as: "... those dear dead days beyond recall" and "You oughtn't cast aspersions like that." When Chris, the hero, tells her of the death of the majority of his company in combat, her clever reply is "Oh, gee". If those in charge of direction had been careful to build Ann up as an emotional character, rather than as just another girl, these lines might have been convincing.

Creditable performances were given by the leads both nights, but the only outstanding characterizations were those of the supporting players. Jim Bayliss and his wife were well cast and gave good performances. Lydia Lube and her husband also served to brighten an otherwise tired plot.

Scenery and make-up were well handled on the whole. The house was particularly realistic.

We feel that Mask and Dagger in its mistaken effort to present more serious plays has gone beyond its ability. It should exercise more care in the selection of its plays.

Mayor McNair Silent; Awaits Students Decision on MERP

The letters and cards are slowly trickling in. And all the writers are in favor of MERP (Male Economic Recovery Plan) which was brought to the attention of the campus populace in last week's column. However, no word was received from the Honorable Mayor McNair without whose official proclamation such a plan cannot be enacted.

This does not mean that we should pass off MERP as another fad with no merit in its enactment. On the contrary, like all great institutions, it must start slowly and continue onward until it becomes part of our tradition, our way of life.

Remember Dewey

It is only natural for people to approach something new cautiously and with some skepticism but caution and skepticism should not replace an objective study of MERP. And after an objective study is made, over-confidence should not replace active participation. This plan is for the benefit of all and its success depends on YOUR cooperation. It was over-confidence that defeated Dewey. Your cry should be "Remember Dewey."

Here is how you can bring about the greatest innovation in the history of Economics. Just send a card or letter to The New Hampshire stating your opinions about MERP. The more letters we get, the greater the pressure we can apply on the mayor and the other powers that be. Men, here is your chance to free yourself of those financial shackles.

Our Honored Dead

To the Editor:
Evidently the blood of our buddies that we saw spilled a few years ago on distant lands was spilled uselessly.

According to the events and lack of events on this campus our honored dead have died in vain. Not only do we have elements subversive to the welfare and future prosperity of our country operating here, but at 11 a.m. on November 11, 1948 we sneered disgustingly at the flower of American youth who were blown to bits but four short years ago.

When I came from class that morning I paused and listened for the band that should have been sounding taps beneath the flag I love so well. I listened and prepared to pray that this country might be worthy of those men. All I heard was a shrill thoughtless peal of laughter.

I am ashamed of my student council, I am ashamed of the administration of my school for its laxity, and I am ashamed of myself for being a member of an institution that grinds the highest patriotic traditions of the United States into the mud under the heel of ignorance and subversive interests.

R.M.H.

MERP O. K.!

To the Editor:

The initiation of "MERP" (Male Economic Recovery Program) week on campus will be a boon to men and co-eds alike. The girls will realize financial responsibility and at the same time get a kick out of the new plan. With the exception of the Pan-Hel dance there is no program for the relief of the men, who give the girls such happy times. The "MERP" plan is purely voluntary and no co-ed needs to feel obliged to accept a date under these conditions. However, in a campus poll just recently completed, the girls have shown their complete willingness to take part in "MERP". Let's all get in the swing and put this swell idea across, girls; the fellows will thank you for it.

Stirling S. Hamlin

Classy 'Cats

A snarling, raging, rampaging Wildcat clawed the Connecticut Uconn with magnificent fury, speed and power last Saturday to make the Pessimistic Petes eat their doleful words of woe.

The boys who moaned the blues after the Vermont game and who sang a dirge over the battered and beaten body of the Wildcat are now singing a different tune.

We have maintained that our football team is worthy of Big Time, and their slam-bang performance last week-end proved it. They looked classy and sassy!

As Director Lundholm has said — you can't win 'em all. When the boys drop a few it is no sign to write them off as has-beens or could-have-beens. The boys have got the stuff and if the breaks came bad, it doesn't mean we automatically disown 'em. Not the boys who wheeled like they did last Saturday! They're our boys — all the way.

Next Saturday these boys of ours are riding into as tough and rough a battle as they are ever going to see. A knock-down, drag-em-out fight with the cocky, confident Toledo team.

We want the boys to know we are going with them — all the way, win, lose or draw. They are carrying the prestige of New England football on their brawny shoulders, and we're proud of it!

They're out for blood this time — make no mistake about it. They haven't forgotten the Glass Bowl. They haven't forgotten the treatment the Toledo team gave them when they were out there in a strange and unfamiliar country. But this year the 'Cat is in his own lair. This year the 'Cat takes Toledo on in his happy-hunting ground at Lewis Field. We've got an overdue account, and we intend to settle it! You and I and the team.

We want to see that same snarling, raging, rampaging 'Cat we saw last Saturday . . . that same 'Cat full of fight and fury and the unbeatable will to win.

This is the PAY-OFF, and we're cashing our checks on the 'Cats!

Powerful Invaders from Toledo Rate on Equal Footing with Cats

This Saturday the Wildcats will entertain Toledo University in their first inter-sectional home game in history. Based on the record the invaders led by Head Coach Neil "Skip" Stahley rate the favorites, but the performances by New Hampshire recently make the outcome of Saturday's game anybody's guess.

The Rockets downed Springfield 21-14 handing the Gymnasts their only defeat of the campaign, but the injury ridden UNH Wildcats fell before the Bay Staters 23-0. This is the only team that both aggregations have played. Otherwise the Rockets have had tough sledding, especially against midwestern opponents.

Toledo's Record Poor

They started their season by swamping a weak Bates opponent 42-0 in the Glass Bowl, but came up against one of the best teams in the nation the next weekend. Detroit, who ranks in the top 20 of the nation, routed the Rockets 36 to 0. Then John Carroll, beaten only once this year, downed them 46 to 12. Unbeaten Bowling Green made it three straight setbacks by downing the Ohioians 21 to 6. Their fourth straight defeat came at the hands of a powerful Dayton eleven which avenged a one-point setback of 1947 with a 20-0 win. Toledo journeyed east and broke their losing streak by downing favored Springfield 21-14, and then blew a game to Baldwin Wallace 20 to 14 on a last minute desperation pass. Their only victory against a western opponent came against highly favored Wayne who they upset 27 to 14. Last week Canisius College again beat the Rockets 26 to 21.

Watch Out for Lee Pete

The Cats will be facing one of the best T-quarterback passers in the west when they come up against Lee Pete. He will be their answer to Bruce Mather who has completed 18 out of 27 passes since recovering from a broken arm. The Rockets also have Emerson Cole, big colored fullback who catapulted his 210 pounds over the goal line at the Glass Bowl last year for the winning touchdown. He is their answer to Carmen Ragonese.

The Rockets also have an equal of Bob Mikszenas in pass catching Chuck Hardy who is tall, light and fast. He tallied 30 points last season and is also known for his hard running from the half back slot. John Shutt, their equivalent of Kachavos, got 25 points after touchdowns last year and has been just as effective this campaign. Their center Mike Carmen made the small college All-American team last year and still is an outstanding star.

Last Game for Cats

This will be the last game of the campaign for the men of Biff Glassford while Toledo will entertain an opponent in their annual Glass Bowl game on December 6. The Rockets will stay at the Hotel Rockingham in Portsmouth on Friday night and celebrate in Boston after the ball game, win or lose.

The men of Biff Glassford will almost be at full strength for the contest. However, Jim Nestor, who injured his leg, will not see action, his place being taken by Bill Levandowski. Glassford was pleased with his victory over Connecticut but claimed that the Cats have yet to play their best brand of football. He said that UNH would have to be five touchdowns better than they were against Springfield, and at least two better than last Saturday in order to come out on top.

Coach Sweet Issues Winter Track Call

A meeting of all eligible undergraduate men interested in participating in Winter Track will be held in room 4 of the Field House, Monday, November 29, at 4:15 p.m.

The Winter-Track Program provides opportunity for full participation in all the usual track and field events, with the exception of the javelin throw. Briefly these events consist of: dashes, hurdles, 60 and 1000 yard runs, one and two-mile runs, running high and broad jumps, pole vault, shot-put, discus and weight throws.

In issuing this call, Coach Sweet wishes to emphasize that previous experience is not necessary, and that every interested man should attend the meeting. He points out that track can absorb a greater number of men than any other intercollegiate sport. Also, to be successful, it requires more men than any other sport.

All candidates will be tested to determine the event for which they have the most talent, and would be most successful in. Practice for runners is held on the new board track, while field event men work out in the field house.

Wisniewski Elected Captain Of Unbeaten Frosh Team

Edward Wisniewski, of Swissvale, Pa., has been elected captain of the undefeated and united UNH freshman football team.

Wisniewski, who stands 5'10" and weighs 210 pounds, was an outstanding guard on Coach Pepper Martin's undefeated Kittens. His election by squad members followed the final game with Phillips Exeter Academy.

The Freshmen played a three-game schedule winning over Brown freshmen 8-6, Brewster Academy 13-7, and Phillips Exeter 13-7.

WILDCATS WIN

failed to gain much and the Cats took too much time in the huddle the ensuing penalty pushing the ball back to the 12. A short Ragonese gain and an incomplete Mather pass ended the Cat threat and the first period.

Cats Stall Again

No sooner had the second stanza started when the Cats edged to the four-yard line thanks to a Mather-Levandowski aerial. A clipping penalty pushed them out of reach and they were forced to kick when Mather was thrown for a twenty-yard loss.

The Nutmeggers failed to gain and Pinsky dropped back to kick. However, Ted Piciorak slammed through to block the kick and old reliable Gus Gilman fell on the ball. This time the Cats were not to be denied.

Mather passed to Levandowski, who had replaced the injured Jim Nestor, and then the Golden Boy pulled the famous lateral play again. Gage took the ball and sprinted to the 3. Another penalty set the Cats back to the 11 and it looked as if UNH would fail again to score. But Carmen Ragonese swept around wide left end and eluded a host of tacklers to plunge over the last chalk marks and send the stands into a frenzy. A moment later they were plunged into gloom when George Kachavos, place kicking specialist, missed the attempt to knot the count. The one-point lead of Connecticut loomed very important at the time. Just before the end of the first half Ed Ferrigno tossed three straight first down passes but time ran out with the Uconns on our 29-yard line.

After Mather and Ragonese had led a third-period drive to the Connecticut 18-yard line the attack fizzled out and the Nutmeggers took over. De-Zenzo took an end around lateral but was hemmed in by Cat tacklers and thrown for a big loss. Ed Frazer, who had just come into the contest for the first time in the game, tackled him so hard that he fumbled. Frazer got his hands on the elusive pill before it went out of bounds. Thus the referees awarded the pigskin to New Hampshire as they were the last to touch it. Huntress picked up five yards, Gould three, and Ragonese made a first down at the 8-yard line. Punchy bulled to the two, but was thrown for a three-yard loss, which was quickly made up by Ragonese. It was last down at the 2-yard line. Carmen drove into the middle of the line, and it appeared from the upper ranges of the press box that he was over, only to be pushed back by the powerful Uconn line. But the referees said otherwise and gave the Nutmeggers the ball on their own foot line!

Barry booted out to Pritchard who returned the pigskin to the Nutmegger 27-yard line. Mather passed to Mikszenas and Ragonese made a first down at the 14. Pritchard gained five and Ragonese moved the ball to the four. It was last down again, but Bruce Mather took a quarterback sneak and poughed through to the 2-yard line, enough for a first down. This ended the third period.

UNH Takes the Lead

On the first play of the final period Ragonese was thrown for a 3-yard loss, and then met the powerful right side of the Uconn line and went nowhere. With either drawn in tight Carmen took the ball on an end around. It looked as if we were going to be trapped for a loss, but somehow he wriggled free and barely sneaked over with half the Nutmegger team on his back. Kachavos booted the extra point and the Cats had gone ahead for the first time in the game, 13 to 7.

Mikszenas Scores Clincher

After a kicking exchange UNH took the ball on their own 19. Everyone expected line plays to take up as much time as possible and prevent the enemy from getting their hands on the ball. But Bruce Mather had a surprise up his sleeve and decided to pass. Bob Mikszenas got behind the Connecticut secondaries and took a tremendous 50-yard aerial on the Uconn 40 and dashed over for the clincher. The entire play covered 81 yards and was the highlight of the season. Again Kachavos made the point after touchdown to put UNH in the van 20 to 7. From then on the Uconns tried desperation passes and completed quite a few of them to penetrate to the NH 33 where they lost the ball on downs. Then the Wildcats stalled for time and the clock ran out to give them, not only the ball game, but the Yankee Conference Championship as well.

Connecticut Slightly Behind NH Statistically, Especially in Air

The statistics of the ball game last Saturday were closer than the average fan realized simply because the Uconns seemed to click right near the half and also at the end of the game. In those two brief periods they racked up six first downs and racked up a lot of yardage. The Cats passing attack was again outstanding except for the first period.

Senior Skulls Society Organizes Intramural Basketball League

The Intramural Basketball League commenced its second season under the leadership of Dick Dart, Senior Skull President, last week. Three Leagues are competing for trophies to be presented to the winning teams at the end of the campaign.

Late important changes have been made in the schedule due to the fact that T.K.E. and College Road have dropped out of the running. Now all three leagues have eight teams a piece.

Gibbs Hall Downs East and Hunter Quintets

Powerful Gibbs Hall won their first two intramural basketball encounters from East Hall by a 19 to 18 count and over highly favored Hunter Hall 21 to 14. Gibbs was leading or tied all throughout both games and was paced by Bill Burr with 12 points, and Reid and Calahan with 6 a piece.

Inspired Fans Led By Cat Cheerleaders

It was obvious last Saturday that the campaign conducted by many students to improve the school spirit was a success. Russell Harmon's cheerleaders and Mr. Reynolds bandsters made so much noise that Biff Glassford had to quiet them down so the team could hear their signals.

At half time the band formed a big clock and proceeded to play "Now Is The Hour". It definitely was the hour for the newly crowned Yankee Conference Champions.

The NH cheerleaders that led the inspired gathering included: Russ Harmon, Junior Ridell, Lou LaVaude, Pauline Richie, Jean Garsythe, Marjorie McCawley, Janet Furman, Loretta Goudbeau, Barbara Bridle, Barbara Neville and Joan Brightman. Also the Nutmeggers brought along their own cheerleaders who weren't exercising their vocal cords much after the first period.

Coed Hockey Team Beats Nasson, 9-0

The women's all-star hockey team, in their first game of the season, flashed an offense which proved completely baffling to a weaker Nasson team, taking a one-sided, 9-0 victory at Memorial Field.

Playing a fast game, marked by clever stick-work and an air-tight defense, the Kittens showed themselves as one of the strongest teams in recent years.

Journeying to Medford, Mass. the following week, the Kittens won over a strong Jackson College team.

In the interclass hockey tournament, the Seniors, bouncing back from a hectic period of three years without winning a game, took the title from the juniors in a close battle. The juniors needing a victory over the sophomores to tie, were beaten.

SCM Visits Student Center in Boston

The first of the SCM trips to the International Student Center in Cambridge will be held on Sunday, November 21. A chartered bus will leave Smith Hall at 2:00 p.m. returning around 11:00 p.m.

The Student Center House is the meeting place for foreign students in the vicinity of Boston. On Sundays the house is opened to all who are interested in meeting with the students.

An afternoon tea and buffet supper afford ample opportunity to personally meet and talk with the various students. Prof. Paul Johnson of the Department of Psychology at B.U. will give the first speech in the evening series on Great Religions of the World.

Further information concerning the trip may be obtained at the SCM office, New Hampshire Hall.

SCM Hears Address by Reverend Mark Strickland

Rev. Mark Strickland of the First Congregational Church in Manchester spoke to the SCM on Monday, November 8 on "Problems in Religious Thinking." Rev. Strickland stressed the problems that a student meets when attending college.

If you asked the students what they liked about the Student Union Building, you would get a wide variety of answers such as the dances, a place to feel at home, I can meet my boyfriend there, nine o'clock coffee, a place to get into a good argument. In any of these answers, you will find an underlying appreciation of the fellowship gained through this student organization.

The hope and objectives of a Student Union is to "convert the University from a house of learning to a home of learning." It should stimulate the social side of education, improve the standard of social activities, and democratize the undergraduates by giving them a chance to come together on common ground in a common meeting place.

The time spent outside the classroom should be a supplement to the student's academic education. This year we have already seen evidence of it in the UNH Union — the electrical engineer works on the PA system; the business student finds practical experience on the finance committee; the liberal arts student works with the cultural recreation committee; the student interested in recreation work is finding a laboratory experience in this field with the Union. This is an organization composed of all students, not in competition with other organizations but an aid to them.

As the drive is being initiated for a new SU building at UNH, everyone on campus should be aware of the needs which this building must fulfill. All over the country, the Student Union is becoming an essential part of University life. Many Unions, such as that at Wisconsin State, have two- or three-story buildings containing much that the local Union needs.

Among these improvements are: a SU office and associated offices; club rooms for student organizations, such as the University newspaper; a con-

"Society in Search of a Soul" Topic of Hillel's Open Meeting

All members of SCM, Canterbury, and Newman Clubs have been invited to an open meeting of the Hillel Foundation tonight at 7 p.m. in the Organization Room of the Commons.

"Society in Search of a Soul" will be the subject of a talk by Reverend Edward H. Brewster, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Portsmouth, who has been invited to speak by Hillel's IZFA chapter.

Reverend Brewster, a graduate of Bates College and Boston University, is chairman of the New Hampshire Christian Palestine Committee. Rev. Brewster is also well-known in the state for his part in the New Hampshire Labor-Management Institute.

Former pastor of the Nashua Methodist Church, Rev. Brewster was formerly a director of religious education for the Philadelphia Conference of Methodist Churches.

Following the meeting there will be a question period on pertinent subjects. Refreshments will be served.

USAF to Explain Pilot Openings

The opportunity for pilot training and a career as an officer with the United States Air Force, which is open to qualified college men, will be explained to University of New Hampshire men on Nov. 29, 30, and December 1 in Pettee Hall from 8:30 a.m. through 5:00 p.m. by a special Air Force Aviation Cadet team.

Men, 20 to 26½ years old, and physically fit, with two or more years of college, will have the opportunity to provisionally qualify for the flight training immediately when the traveling Cadet team meets here at Pettee Hall.

Men who volunteer and are accepted for pilot training with the Air Force will receive their basis flight training in Texas. Successful Cadets will be given their pilots' wings and commissions as 2nd Lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve after only 12 months of training. They will go on active duty immediately upon graduation and can earn pay and allowances in excess of $4000 a year.

Varsity Men to be Honored at Newman Club Sports Night

Next Monday, Nov. 22, the varsity athletes of New Hampshire University will be honored by the student-body at the annual "Sports Night" sponsored by the Newman Club.

The program, in honor of all varsity men — with a special tribute to the 1948 Football Squad — will begin at 7 p.m. in N. H. Hall.

Dan Kelly, Mass. Supervisor of Physical Education and Safety Education, will be the main speaker of the evening. Mr. Kelly is well qualified to speak on such an occasion, having been a former coach at Harvard and an intercollegiate referee for the past 25 years.

Coach Biff Glassford and his entire football aggregation will be present along with President Arthur S. Adams, Dean Medesy and representatives of other sports.

The flashy UNH band will be present to furnish music, and the Pepcats will be there to lead the cheers. There is no charge for admission and all faculty members and students are urged to attend this affair and pay their tribute to our varsity men.

certhall or theater; a ballroom, used also as a banquet hall; a luncheonette for commuters; a barber shop; a shop selling commodities (soap, shoe polish, needles and thread, etc.); a soda fountain; a rec room for such games as ping pong and shuffleboard; a card game room.
