Let's Laud the Victors!

A meeting will be held in Murkland Auditorium on Monday December 4, at 6 p.m., to discuss the possibilities of presenting suitable awards to this year's victorious football team. All students who are interested in this project are invited to attend, as well as representatives from campus organizations. The meeting is being held to decide whether or not such plans are feasible, to provide for an election of a committee, and to discuss the methods in procuring funds.

Under consideration at present is the purchase of jackets for the members of the 1950 squad. Permission for the continuation of this project has already been given by the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women.

Professor Bingham Comments On Controversial Unlimited Cuts Giving "Teachers" Side of Story

by Paula Webb

It is reported that a great many UNH professors have been particularly disturbed recently by excessive cutting of classes. Obviously, students have taken advantage of the free cut system. An atmosphere has been established wherein students attend classes only when it suits their whim. This past week this reporter interviewed Dr. Sylvester Bingham of the English Department who has voiced such a complaint.

Dr. Bingham explained, "UNH students, as a whole, do not understand the privileges and obligations of this freedom. They do not understand what freedom in the educational sense means or how it should be used." Dr. Bingham pointed out that this does not implicate all students, but a large majority of them. As he sees it, the situation is comparable to an honor system when it does not work because the students fail to realize obligations involved in such a system.

Dull Classes

Students have been heard to ask this question: Why do not instructors make their courses interesting enough so that students will want to come to classes? Dr. Bingham answers that many students are very immature, and and look for the amusing rather than the educational. They expect their professors to be actors, and if they do not put on a good, amusing show, their classes hold no interest for them. To the conscientious student who is really interested in learning, this, of course, does not apply. It is the poor student who usually takes advantage of the free cut system.

"If the professor does not give his students anything new, it is a waste of time for the student to go to class, provided he can do his work outside", Dr. Bingham observed. He went on to say that if the student has the right attitude, if he can do the work that is required and do it well, he is entitled to cut classes at his own discretion.

Class is Obligation

"The theory is that a college education is to prepare people for rational action in the world after they leave college", Dr. Bingham told the reporter. The question is, can students learn certain obligations by being given this particular sort of freedom? The more modern psychological point of view seems to be in favor of learning through experience. In other words, the student can best learn to allot his time, for instance, by being given an opportunity to experiment on his own. This, Dr. Bingham believes, can be done in an easy-going atmosphere like college. Here professors go out of their way to be lenient toward students and their activities. Dr. Bingham believes, however, that this is scarcely a method of preparation for the world which lies ahead. The business executive will not go out of his way to try to understand. A person does not argue with his employer when he is told at what time he will report to

Mrs. Stu Whipple, Campus Wife, Is Active in University Nursery

by Betty Johnston

One of the outstanding examples of the importance and the industry of the campus wives is Mrs. Stuart Whipple, graduate of the University and wife of Stuart Whipple, a language major here.

As head teacher for the University Nursery on College Road, Mrs. Whipple spends at least seven and a half hours a day supervising children in their play.

The nursery, now in its twentieth year of operation in connection with the Home Economics Department and the Child Development Department, was originally conducted in one room of Craft Cottage. Since the end of the war, the nursery has conducted its activities in the College Apartments, however, plans are made to move the nursery back into Craft Cottage soon.

At present the scope of the nursery is designed only for three and four year olds. Under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Rand, the faculty advisor, three senior student teachers direct play, such as singing, and the telling of stories.

In the words of Miss Rand, "The purpose of the school is to give the child experience in his own age level, with the emphasis on individual growth in all aspects of development."

Announcement of Cadet Colonel Will Climax Annual Mil Arts Ball

by Skip Hamlin

The Honorary Cadet Colonel and her aides for this year's Military Arts Ball on December 8 will be elected December 6 by the student body. Each student must present his student activity card in person at T-Hall Arch from 8:45 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The pictures of the seven candidates are being displayed this week in the College Shop and tickets for the Ball may be purchased there, at the University Bookstore and at the Wildcat. The three winning beauties will be informed of their selection but will not know which is the Honorary Colonel until the evening of the Ball.

Scabbard and Blade, national military honor society sponsoring the Ball, extended membership bids this week to thirty-three junior ROTC students. They include: William Andrews, Carleton Allen, Anthony Bahros, David Beaudoin, John Bowes, George Bretton, Daniel Dillion, Edward Douglas, Earl Eddy, Herbert Follansbee, Charles Forsaith, John Jacobsmeyer, Nicholas Kalipolites, James Kelley and William Knipe.

Also receiving invitations were: Louis Kochanek, Valerian Lavernoch, Lawrence Martin, Howard McGlory, William McKelvie, Donald Miosky, Carl Ordway, Arthur Post, Alfred Pucci, Stanley Stakowski, William Shea, Robert Whittemore, Harmon Guptill, Carleton Cross, Norman Merrill, Clare Mitchell, Samuel Stratton and Frank Sullivan.

Immediately following the commissioning of the Honorary Cadet Colonel these men will be officially pledged to Scabbard and Blade when, accompanied by a group of Senior men, they will be 'dubbed' by the Cadet Colonel.

This year's Ball promises to be a gala affair. Couples will dance to the smooth "heart to heart" music of Elliott Lawrence, ably assisted by his own fine piano artistry and the vocal renditions of Rosalind Patton and Danny Riccardo. The hall will be decorated through the combined efforts of members and pledges of Scabbard and Blade under the general direction of Frank Gilbert. The decorative theme of the dance will be "a panorama of Scabbard and Blade." While the military motif will be dominant, tuxedos will also fill the dress requirements for the Ball. A capacity crowd is expected to attend this first formal function of the year.

A photographer will be in the refreshment room during the dance to take individual pictures for those who desire. Only half the cost of the pictures is required to be paid at that time; the other half may be paid at delivery of the pictures, which will be ready following the Ball.

Concert Choir Sings Background for Film

Louis DeRochemont's forthcoming film, "The Whistle at Eaton Falls" has recently kept the University of New Hampshire's Concert Choir busy with the cutting of the choral sound track for the movie.

Meeting with musicians from New York City, the choristers practiced all day at Station WHEB under the direction of Professor Karl H. Bratton. The following day the students were filmed with the principals of the productions who were in the sequence for which the sound track was cut. The students will appear in several of the scenes in the movie.

Three "Stagnant" Political Clubs Planning Active Campus Programs

by Don Rothberg

This fall the ban on political organizations on campus was lifted. However three organizations have, as yet, done nothing to gain recognition by the University as official and legal groups. The question is whether or not they intend to remain stagnant or whether they have plans for the coming year.

Dick Morse, head of the Young Republicans, presented their recently approved constitution to this organization at a meeting in Ballard Hall last night. He stated the principle of the organization as "a vehicle through which the students can learn about the policies of the Republican Party." This club plans to bring speakers to Durham to discuss these policies.

Democrats to Organize

The Young Democrats also intend to become an active organization this year. Ray Grady, organization chairman, said "The political organizations on campus have been lethargic in stimulating interest in politics among the students." The club is devoted to the political education of the students. They plan to get members of the history and government departments to speak on current legislation and the Fair Deal. Open meetings will be held in order to give students a chance to understand the inner working of the organization.

The Students For Democratic Action is the student division of the Americans for Democratic Action, an organization which has been instrumental in advancing the Fair Deal and Civil Rights legislation. They believe that a rising standard of living and lasting peace can be attained by democratic planning, enlargement of fundamental liberties and international cooperation. Dick Wall, one of the leaders, said, "The SDA has access to the ADA's speakers and educational facilities. Much can be done with this organization. We invite anyone who agrees with our principles to join us in exploiting these advantages. In particular we are looking for "young blood", to take over the leadership of the organization, since last year's leaders are indisposed". All those interested in becoming familiar with its background and plans for the future can secure the information by contacting Dick Wall at 18 Ballard Street, telephone 185-M.

Progressive Inactive

The Young Progressives is inactive at the present time and has nothing planned for the coming year. The aim of the group, as outlined by Seymour Sargent, is to "maintain peace through cooperation among all nations especially with the Eastern Socialistic nations."

Although the children of the students are given priority, the children of the faculty and any others are also admitted.

Though Mrs. Whipple's major at the University was Home Economics, she also took many psychology courses which were largely responsible for her being offered the nursery school position. She gained helpful practical experience both at the University's small wartime nursery, and as a practice teacher in the Concord High School child care unit.

Mrs. Whipple is also active as an advisor to Kappa Delta, a co-chairman of the Pan-Hellenic Advisory Council, and in her spare time she baby sits and sews. She also tries to visit the children's homes at least once during the first semester.

Parents have expressed great satisfaction with Mrs. Whipple's work, and hope that she will continue with her activities for a long period.

Official Notices

All students are responsible for knowledge of Notices appearing here.

Winter Parking. In order to facilitate snow removal, no parking will be allowed from Dec. 1 through March 31 in the following areas between the hours of 12:01 a.m. and 7 a.m.: Thompson Hall, Morrill Hall, Hewitt Hall, DeMeritt Hall, Service Building, Nesmith Hall, N.H. Hall, Hood House, Kingsbury Hall, Notch Hall, and Scott Hall. Should overnight parking be necessary, the area adjacent to Ballard Hall will be available.

Incomplete Grades. The burden of removing incomplete marks rests with student. As soon as the probability of an incomplete becomes apparent, and no later than the beginning of his next semester, the student should apply for the privilege of completing his work. For incompletes caused by absence, apply to the Dean of Men or of Women; for other causes, to the Dean of your college. Courses not completed by the end (last day of classes preceding examinations) of the student's semester next following the one in which the incomplete occurred will be automatically recorded as a failure. If a postponement beyond this semester is needed, it may be granted by the Dean of the student's college.

Men. Classes in required physical education for men will be resumed on Monday, December 4, 1950.

Everybody. If you had an absence during the $5-cut period, please secure your absence authorization as soon as possible. This will help cut down the number of unnecessary bills sent out.

Regional Conference of Student Unions Starts at Notch Tonight

Representatives from the Student Union of thirteen New England colleges will hold a convention here this weekend. Dick Stevens, head of the UNH Student Union outlined the purpose of the convention as "... to discuss the growth and development of unions in New England and the problems related to them." Stevens also said, "The New Hampshire Union was honored that they were chosen as the location for the convention."

Friday night an informal get-together will be held at the home of Maxine Armstrong, UNH Union secretary, for all delegates who have arrived early.

Full Program

Approximately 42 visiting delegates, and ten delegates from the University will register at 9 a.m. at Notch Hall.

The first session beginning at 10:30 will be opened by Dick Stevens who will introduce Dean Sackett. Following the Dean's welcoming address, Nelson Jones, Brown University, will give a brief sketch on the history of the unions in New England.

The delegates will hear an address by President Chandler at a luncheon held in the faculty dining hall at Commons at 12:30.

Following the luncheon the visitors are to be taken on a tour of the campus, especially the new Technology building.

Other sessions are going to be held at 3 p.m. and from 7-9 p.m. Each school is allowed two official delegates at each session but they may have any number of representatives sitting in on these discussions.

Breakfast to be Held

Sunday morning, conference members and New Hampshire students who have registered for the regular sessions will attend a scrambled-egg breakfast at Notch Hall. Students who are interested in attending the regular sessions are urged to register early in order to alleviate any possible confusion on Saturday.

During the closing session at 9 a.m. Sunday, they will attempt to evaluate what they have done the previous day at this session.

Following the evening session on Saturday a special program will be put on for the delegates at the Notch by a group of our Student Union members. This is expected to begin at 9 p.m.

The Student Union office and mail hall will be closed Saturday morning through Sunday afternoon at 3.

Let's Laud the Victors

After witnessing the most intense student enthusiasm ever demonstrated on this campus, we were not surprised to receive the following letter Wednesday evening from a group of students who are doing something to honor the splendid football team UNH boasted this past season. We believe that every student on campus should join in these plans and participate to his utmost — adequate honor and thanks for the effort the football players made for our college should originate with the students and be handled by the students.

The letter follows:

Dear Editor:

The following idea will, I believe, meet with your approval. I further feel quite certain that your organization will want a hand in it. Therefore, I extend a most cordial invitation for you to be present at the first organizational meeting this coming Monday, December 4th, Murkland Auditorium, 6 p.m. The Dean of Men and the Dean of Women have given their joint approval to the following project:

I feel that the outstanding record of this year's football team deserves an award from the collective efforts of the student thought. This award would or could be in the form of "Warm-up" jackets suitably lettered marking their undefeated achievements. Therefore, all class presidents are invited, the presidents of IFC, IDC, AWS, WRA, Senior Skulls, Blue Key, Student Council, Pan-Hellenic, Editor of New Hampshire, Varsity Club and Outing Club.

This organizational meeting will decide:

1. Whether or not the project is worthy of their attention.
2. The election of a committee—Chairman—etc.
3. The methods to be used in procuring funds.
4. The dealer or possible dealers that members of the Committee might know in purchasing such jackets.

I feel that all of you have had some similar thought in mind, what has been lacking is a first organizational meeting. I have discussed this idea with a number of people before being "brash" enough to speak as a non-affiliated active member in any of the listed organizations.

I would like to state at this time that if the plan is acceptable that I would pull out completely, as I do not feel any credit should come my way.

Putting it more plainly, I feel a wonderful pride in what this team has done for our University and I am sure you all feel the same way.

I will be on hand to give you a complete plan that I believe is feasible.

If you can not find time to be present in person would you kindly appoint a delegate to represent your organization.

Sincerely yours,
Robert Hauley

A Tribute

The
Last Sunday the angry waters of the Sugar River in western New Hampshire claimed the life of John McLane Clark, publisher of the Claremont Daily Eagle. This loss is deeply felt wherever good journalism exists. Mr. Clark's untimely death leaves a gaping hole in the network of influential men of our state; the staff of The New Hampshire expresses its grief at his passing and feels confident that this sense of deprivation is widespread.

Final

John Clark, Dartmouth '32, was a leader. In his modest, unassuming way he did much for New Hampshire. His work with the State Planning and Development Commission and the Reorganization Commission has left its mark; charitable organizations know full well his help and guidance. His help spread to our own campus, too. Through his influence, students here obtained job with newspapers all over the state during vacations as part of our reporter-training program. His philosophy in writing, once expressed to this scribe was "It's not so much the finished product, but the thought that goes into it — and the thought caused by it in the reader".

Edition

The Eagle's publisher was a big man: big in stature, big in his service to the people, and big at heart. We sadly add the "no copy to follow" sign, - 30 -, to an all too short career. Missing from the press-room will be a tall, unpretentious man in his shirt sleeves saying, "Good work, gang."

Mike and Dial Will Present Full Day Program on WMUR

Mike and Dial, in conjunction with WMUR, will present Mike and Dial Day, a complete day of broadcasting on December 2nd, this Saturday in Manchester. With the cooperation of Mr. Hervey Carter, manager of WMUR and Professor Edmund Cortez, advisor to the Mike and Dial organization, campus radio artists will provide and assist sixteen and three-quarter hours of listening entertainment.

Mike and Dial was offered this opportunity to handle a complete day's broadcast by Mr. Carter last spring. Receiving the invitation too late, the club decided to let it go until the following fall. This fall a committee consisting of both officers and members of the club along with their advisor, Mr. Cortez, went to WMUR in Manchester to plan the day. The project will offer invaluable experience to the members of Mike and Dial and at the same time give the public a chance to hear the work of the club — perhaps even their own acquaintances.

The day will consist of a normal Saturday schedule. Members of Mike and Dial will have regular station personnel working beside them at all times giving them pointers of the trade. In addition to WMUR's regular programs, Mike and Dial will produce several music and dramatic shows of its own. As a special feature the UNH Wildcats orchestra has consented to perform. Another program will be a student talent show with some of the top acts from the Notch Talent Show of a few weeks ago. A third program will be a feature on the activities of the club and campus as they are related. All three programs are scheduled to be Saturday evening.

Soldier Killed — Three Wounded Casualty Lists Again Darken NH

With the news that Frank D. Robie, Durham's celebrated "Mayor" of 1948 and '49, has been wounded in action in Korea, the list of former UNH students or instructors who have been wounded or killed in Korea rose to four.

Word was received here Wednesday that Robie, was wounded in both legs while fighting with the army's 7th division in North Korea. According to a letter received by his wife, Joan, the 26-year old former resident of Woodsville, is recovering in a Tokyo hospital.

Another New Hampshire graduate, Art Rafferty, who starred in football, was wounded in the same area some time in August. At the present time, Rafferty is recovering at his home in Portsmouth. Rafferty was commissioned a second lieutenant upon his graduation in June, 1949.

A former ROTC instructor, Master Sgt. John J. Stempowski of Manchester, was killed in Korea on Sept.

5 as a result of wounds. Stempowski served as an infantry captain in the second World War and later was an instructor in infantry here. He is survived by his wife and two children.

The fourth UNH man is Master Sgt. Robert Kyle, formerly of Detroit, Mich. who was wounded. Kyle was stationed here for three years until August of 1948. He served as a captain in the field artillery in World War II and was an instructor in the same field here.

Cats Open Against Brandeis

Brandeis University will open the University of New Hampshire's 1951 football schedule according to a release from the office of Director of Athletics, Carl Lundholm this week.

It will be the first formal intercollegiate grid contest for Brandeis. They played football on an informal basis this fall.

University Offers Services In Civilian Defense Setup

The University has offered its services to Admiral Browning, director of Civil defense in New Hampshire. Admiral Browning requested that President Chandler look into the possibility of setting up an Institute of Civil Defense in the University to assist in the teaching of defense techniques to those who are interested.

President Chandler is appointing a committee of faculty members to cooperate with Browning and Civil Defense Divisions in Maine and Vermont in the development of the civil defense training.

Admiral Browning suggested that the major problem faced by the Northern New England states probably would be accommodating refugees from cities to the south. It is likely that the training will emphasize this aspect.

Student Council to Meet Agenda Announced Today

Student Council will hold a meeting on December 4, at 7 p.m., in the Organizations Room at Commons. Skip Little, president of the council, has announced that the following items will be considered on the agenda at the meeting.

Item 1. Consideration of the Constitution of Sophomore Sphinx.

Item 2. Report from the Committee on Council Keys.

Item 3. Report from the University Traffic Committee.

Item 4. Report on the Freshman Dining Hall disorders.

University Pepcats Cheer On — Despite Complaints and Hardships

Skip Hamlin — Staff Writer

The Pepcats, who lead the student body in songs and cheers at football and basketball games and pre-game rallies, have for the past year been under the supervision of Student Council and AWS as a student activity. A recent attempt to define and limit the membership of the organization made it necessary to include in its constitution a rule stating that members of the 'Cats could not be removed from membership except for failure to comply with its rules. The organization's Constitution is still being reviewed and approved by Student Council.

This year's roster of Cat's includes three Seniors, two Juniors, and seven Sophomores. Membership in the organization is open to all interested members of the student body.

Some Complaints

There have been several complaints registered concerning the 'Cats from various sources this year. The most prevalent criticism from all quarters has been the lack of new cheers. It must be pointed out, in all fairness to the Pepcats, that the recent contest sponsored by them to produce new songs and cheers resulted in only two entries. The 'Cats have attempted to correct this situation by contributing two new cheers and attempting to eliminate the less popular ones.

Other criticisms of the 'Cats have been that they have tried to draw attention to themselves and that they are equipped with poor uniforms. The Pepcats are quick to point out, in reply, that their sole function is to arouse school spirit and that they are forced to purchase their own pants and skirts. They also point out that the jackets supplied by the Athletic Department are hardly satisfactory for cheerleading. It is hoped that new uniforms can be procured through contributions by campus organizations to be contacted soon.

Offer Thanks

During the football season just completed the Pepcats were represented at all away games to lead the cheering, in spite of the fact that transportation and food costs were not fully provided for. They were also active in leading five pre-game rallies and the rally for retiring President Adams.

The Pepcats would like to thank all those who have helped make cheering at the games and rallies this year a success, the fraternities and sororities who staged skits at the rallies, and the entire student body for its general support.

"Passions Out of the Past" will be the title of the program presented at the Cultural Recreation Committee on December 12 at 8 p.m. Mr. Jones of the history department will speak on some of the greatest love affairs of all time. This should prove to be quite an informative and entertaining talk.

George Reynolds, University Bandmaster, and a few selected members of his group will demonstrate the Sousa Band technique at the Notch on December 5 at 8 p.m. This program, sponsored by Cultural Recreation, will comprise selections by the famous march king along with appropriate commentary by Mr. Reynolds.

A Chess Club is forming Wednesday, December 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the reading room of the Notch. Instruction for beginners, advice for average players and top competition for the experienced will be provided. Mr. O. Lester, New Hampshire state champion for 1946 through 1948 will play blindfolded against any competition.

"Cat tales"

by Bill Reid

It was the zaniest, craziest, noisiest crowd that ever shrieked through an afternoon of football at Lewis Field. Everything exploded. In the locker room, 47 Wildcats and one Chief Boston weren't even visible among the deluge of fathers, visiting coaches and general well-wishers. As the sea of back-slapping, hand-wringing humanity ebbed back and forth in the cozy 70 by 20 foot area, it carried a blissful Chief Boston with it.

Just tossed under a shower by his fanatical Warriors, drops of water still fell off his bronzed face. He was drunk with joy, and a boyish, half-silly, wholly-contented smile split his rugged features. Bliss and all, he found the time and means to go around and shake the hand of every substitute who had played football for him since August, 22 of them in all — an appreciative gesture from an appreciative coach.

Seniors Bow Out Quietly

At the side, a tall, greying modest gentleman from Tewksbury, Mass., feelingly squeezed the hand of a tremendous sophomore fullback, his own son, Dick. Frank Penney, Bill Haubrich and Bob Feero who had just made their last appearances at Lewis Field as collegiate footballers, huddled about the lockers marked 87, 81 and 80, surrounded by friends and admirers.

Ed Douglas, bridgeless and bleeding slightly, the kind of football player that only an opponent can appreciate, stood hanging up a muddy No. 66 and grinning from ear to ear. Tommy Gorman, fiery, militant field general, after two whole years as an understudy to Bruce Mather, finally hung up his uniform the quarterback of an undefeated, untied gridiron club. Earl Eddy and Art Post, burly, done-in, bell wethers of a jeweled-movement Wildcat line just sat and basked in the steam and smiles.

Defensive Line Afire

But the maddest, gayest gang in that locker room? You bet. Brother Boston's defensive line. And what a show they had just put on. Following an unimpressive fourth period at Tufts, they ran the gamut of campus criticism for a whole week, listening to doubtful speculation from Boss Boston all the way down to Betty Co-ed. They had to prove themselves in this one. And how they did it! Four times with their sterns to the wall they slapped the Flashes back on their Golden chariots. One time they blew up a threat on their own one yard line. Look at 'em campus. They are the unheard-of half of what is probably the finest UNH football team of all time. From end to end, they are Steve Perocchi, Bob Jackson, Jack Kooistra, Larry Martin, Ken Doig, and Paul Wyman. Mix in the play of a pair of scrappy line-backers, Tony Bahros and Don Misky and you have three-quarters of a ton of invaluable football property and eight guys who drained the Cup of Recompense to the dregs on November 18.

Kamikazes — Suicide Guys

And while the laurel is making the rounds, let's not forget the Kamikazes, Boston's third and fourth squads. These are the guys who get clobbered five days a week down in Death Valley in order to sit on a bench come Saturday and watch the guys who clobbered them play football. These are the guys who have given the varsity some tougher scrimmages than they ever received from a Saturday opponent. These guys are invaluable to a winning football team and Chief Boston knows better than anyone else how priceless they are.

November 18 will go down as one of the greatest days of New Hampshire football. Although not very original, it's nevertheless painfully true that this day was bought at the cost of blood, sweat and tears. The guys in the jerseys made it what it was — a great team playing a great game of football for a great coach.

Bowes, Dewing and Durand Lead Team

A host of varsity footballers come in for honorable mention in the year's statistics, the headliners being Jackie Bowes, Bob Durand, and Dick Dewing.

Bowes, who placed second to Dewing in overall rushing among the regulars, led the offensive platoon with an average of 5.27 yards per carry, and also in scoring, with 13 TD's to his credit. Jack's big day was at Vermont, where he crossed the double-stripe four times.

Bob Durand, who averaged 4.82 yards per lugging effort, was runnerup in scoring, with 42 points. His glory story was phrased in a single episode, the Kent game, in which he accounted for 12 of the 13 points.

Dick Dewing, who as a sophomore came fifty yards from setting an all-time rushing mark at New Hampshire led the regulars in ground gaining. He ate up 839 yards, averaging 5.05 yards per carry. He also scored six touchdowns. Vin Caramello, sidelined most of the year due to injuries, carried only five times, but averaged 10 yards per carry, to lead the team. Close behind him was Sonny Rowell, who finished the year with a nine yard average. Soupy Campbell, one of the squad's faster backs, averaged 6.83 yards per carry.

Tom Gorman, one of the better quarterbacks in New Hampshire annals, completed 22 of 48 passes for 462 yards, for a shooting accuracy of .458 per cent. He also scored four touchdowns. His chief receivers were Frank Penney and Bill Haubrich. Frank caught 11 passes for 206 yards, and scored once. Haubrich gathered in 10 passes for 148 yards. Sophomore Bob Harrington scored the other TD via the pass route.

Amos "The Toe" Townsend converted successfully 26 of the 35 points-after-touchdowns he attempted, for a 74.3 percent of accuracy.

Huck Keany, whose booming punts lifted the Bostons out of many holes all season, kicked 35 times for 1148 yards, for a 32.8 average per punt.

Team-wise, the Cats gained 2953 yards in their net offensive efforts, for a game average of 369 yards. In contrast, the opposition compiled a total offense of 1829 yards, averaging 241 yards per game.

Bodwell Renamed Harrier Captain

Bobby Bodwell, strong-limbed junior from Dover, N.H. was renamed captain of the 1951 University of New Hampshire cross country squad by the vote of his teammates at their annual banquet Wednesday evening.

Bodwell has the singular honor of leading the Wildcat squad in both his junior and senior years, an honor he richly deserves. He paced Paul Sweet's varsity crew through two hard-luck seasons, constantly the strong finisher of the Cat squad.

Director of Athletics Carl Lundholm, Professor Carrol Towle, a UNH track booster, and senior Dick Pratt of Jaffrey, N. H. were the principal speakers at the banquet. Pratt is the sole graduating senior on the present Wildcat squad. Coupling the older veteran with a talented group of freshmen, Sweet may look forward to better things in 1951.
