

AN EDITORIAL:

PLEDGE!

It's your job now.

Plans for the Memorial Union drive have been completed. The push-off General Convocation is set. The program has been completed.

Everything that can be done to make this drive a success has been done — except one thing.

That is student participation, something that could not be guaranteed in advance, but must come from the student himself.

The announced student goal for the two-year drive is the ground floor of the Union building, a goal that is certainly symbolic in its implications. Just as the building must depend on that floor, so must the success of the drive depend upon the students' participation and enthusiasm.

Six hundred and fifty thousand dollars is a lot of money for a small university to raise. Whether we succeed in this drive that means so much to future University development depends entirely upon you, the students, for the friends and alumni of the University of New Hampshire cannot be expected to donate generously and enthusiastically if the students of the University do not participate generously and enthusiastically.

All this week and part of next, house meetings are being held in every dormitory, fraternity, and sorority on campus. After they are over, you will be asked to pledge what you can toward the success of this drive.

Think about it: this isn't a simple "touch" that can be shrugged off with a dollar or so; it isn't a matter of little concern whether you donate much or little; it isn't something that is going to have no effect upon you.

Even if you graduate before the first brick is laid for the New Hampshire Memorial Union Building, that building will have an effect upon you. Its success or failure will reflect upon the the University for years to come — and that success or failure will in turn reflect upon you, as a graduate of the University.

So dig down deep and PLEDGE — it's an investment in the University's future, and yours as well.

'April In Paris' Theme For SU's Spring Formal Saturday Night

"April in Paris", the annual Student Union spring semi-formal to be held April 11, will brighten the Notch with the atmosphere of Paris in the spring. Dancing will start with a grand march under the Arc de Triumph at 8:00 p.m., with Johnny Howe's orchestra providing the music.

Again this year colonial bouquets will be presented to all the ladies with the compliments of Student Union, and unique refreshments will be served throughout the evening in a little sidewalk cafe.

The transformation of the Notch into a scene in Paris is under the direction of Nancy Evans and Edwina Colletto, with the original sketches having been done by Jean Coates. Easily recognized will be the Eiffel Tower and the Arc de Triumph, and the main hall will depict Paris street scenes.

The Cultural Recreation committee, is in charge of refreshments and the dance program has been designed by Carol Leslie. Chaperones for this Parisian prom will include Dean Ruth J. Woodruff, and the faculty members of the Student Union Board of Governors, Dean and Mrs. Everett B. Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woud, Dr. and Mrs. G. Harris Daggett, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Cortez, and Dr. Howard V. Jones.

General Chairman of the program Odie Garbidina has announced that passports for an evening in Paris may still be obtained by bringing an I.D. card to the Student Union office before Saturday noon.

Summer Youth Music School Featuring Guest Conductors

The University of New Hampshire's Summer Youth Music School in 1953 will be held August 9 to 22, it was announced by Karl H. Bratton, Chairman of the Department of Music.

Guest conductors will include Paul Painter, Director of Music Extension at the University of Illinois, in orchestra; Dr. Harry R. Wilson, Professor of Music at Teachers' College, Columbia, directing chorus; and Thomas S. Richardson, Assistant to the Director of Music Extension at the University of Illinois, leading band.

Organized recreation will be directed by John W. Chrusicel of Quincy, Mass., who is a chemistry teacher and football coach at Quincy High School.

The UNH Summer Youth Music School, which annually attracts over 300 teen-aged music students from a dozen states, is the largest of its kind in the country.

Memorial Convocation Speakers Emphasize Enthusiasm on Campus

The lost generation remained lost as far as Bill Mauldin was concerned, but the Student Convocation went through anyway.

The famed war cartoonist was grounded in New York because of rainy weather, and was unable to make his appearance as scheduled for the "junior convo" that explained to the students the Memorial Union Drive and their part in it.

Mauldin sent the following message: "After sitting up for three nights writing a message on the 'Lost Generation', I find that I am lost myself . . . The flying conditions here are so bad that the birds are walking."

Stress April Convo

Laurence Whittemore, president of the Brown company and vice-president of the UNH Board of Trustees, was the feature speaker at the convocation. Miss Norma Farrar, in charge of student participation in the drive, briefed the convocation on the coming convocation.

"This drive is a great endeavor for the University of New Hampshire," Mr. Whittemore stated in his introductory remarks. "Why has the University grown? What has made it rise from a so-called 'cow college' to a great University?"

"It has grown as an instrumentality of the state of New Hampshire." He sketched his experiences in the state legislature when the Mill Tax Formula for appropriating money to the University was passed, and described the growing contributions of the state to the school.

"But now we come to a position where the needs of the University are such that it is up to us — the friends, students, and alumni — to do something for the University.

"There are more values in a school than those obtained from books," he declared. A Memorial Union Building would help provide those values — recreation, a meeting place for organizations, etc. "One of the great assets of a college education is the fellowship obtained from it."

Limited State Funds

Why cannot the state provide us with this building? "The legislature is limited as to the type of thing it can provide for the University — things confined to a strictly academic nature."

"If student enthusiasm is not great, then the friends and alumni cannot be expected to contribute to a building primarily for student use . . . The University of New Hampshire is on trial in this campaign," he concluded.

Miss Farrar then briefed the students on their part of the drive. The for the four classes presently in school, student goal for the drive is $55,000, she said.

Bill Croft, chairman of the student drive's General Council, served as introductory speaker and the University Band provided music for the convocation.

U. S. Treasurer and Pennsylvania's Governor Complete Convo Program

CONVOCATION SPEAKERS — Governor John S. Fine, of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, are among the featured speakers giving addresses at the three-day Memorial Union Convocation on "Enrichment of Lives on a University Campus".

The Treasurer of the United States, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Governor of Pennsylvania, Honorable John S. Fine, Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, immortalized by the best-seller "Cheaper by the Dozen", and the United States Undersecretary of State, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith have added their names to the impressive roster of speakers who have accepted invitations to speak at the April 23-25 University Convocation. The theme of the Memorial Union Convocation will be "The Enrichment of Lives on a University Campus" with Thursday, the first day, designated "Family Day", Friday, "New Hampshire Day", and Saturday, "Ben Thompson Day", in honor of the University's first benefactor.

"Family Day", Thursday, April 23, will feature Gov. Fine and Dr. Gilbreth delivering two major addresses, a reception and student art exhibit. The program also includes a formal review by the University's 1200 ROTC cadets, open house at the residence halls, and the annual Spring Concert with over 300 students participating.

Governor Fine's Address

"Developing Leaders for American Democracy" will be the theme for Gov. Fine's address, to be delivered at the Field House, Thursday, at 2 p.m. Gov. Fine resigned his post as judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to conduct a successful campaign for the office of governor, and was a prominent figure at the 1953 Republican National Convention which nominated President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He is an alumnus of Dickinson School of Law, and Trinity College, University of Dublin, Ireland. He has been awarded honorary degrees by Dickinson College, Lafayette College, University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, and Hahnemann Medical College.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth will be the featured speaker of the University Family Dinner, with an address entitled "This We Can Do". The Annual Spring Concert, with the Concert Choir, Symphonic Orchestra, Women's Glee Club; and Men's Glee Club, will be held in New Hampshire at 8:15 to complete the program for "Family Day".

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, will open the activities on Friday, designated "New Hampshire Day", with an address to the New Hampshire. See Convo Program Page 8

Dorm Rents Rise; Quadrangle Rooms To Be Doubles

Dormitory rents for 1953-54 were raised at the March 13 meeting of the Housing Committee to compensate for the loss of revenue due to reducing the capacity of the three quadrangle dormitories by one-third. Both the Men's and Women's Inter-Dormitory Councils had been asked to express their opinions regarding the relative financial values represented by the different dormitories.

In arriving at the scales given below, the recommendations of the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council were followed with some slight modification. Changes in the relative rates in the men's dormitories were made so that comparable accommodations in both men's and women's houses would be the same price.

Rents in the Women's dorms will be the following: Commons, single, $145, double, $125; Congreve North, single, $185, double, $165; Congreve South, single, $175, double, $155; Sawyer, single, $190, double, $170; Schofield, single, $130, double, $110; Scott, single, $180, double, $160; Smith, single, $130, double, $110.

Men's Dorms

The following prices have been set for the men's dorms; Alexander, single, $190, double, $170; College Road, single, $120, double, $100; East-West, single, $115, double, $95; Englehardt, single, $145, double, $125; Fairchild, single, $180, double, $160; Gibbs, single, $145, double, $125; Hetzel, single, $180, double, $160; Hunter, single, $145, double, $125.

This raise of dormitory rents marks the third year in which rent raises have been placed on most of the campus dormitories. During the years 1951-52 rents for most of the dormitories were raised $5. During the years 1952-53 room rent were raised $10.

WIDC 'Foster Feed' Tonight

WIDC's "Foster Family Feed" will be served tonight, April 9, at 5:30 p.m. in Sawyer Hall, Scott, and North Congreve. The Salamanders will entertain at each participating dormitory.

This tuna salad supper is held to enable the UNH women's dormitories, through WIDC, to support a war orphan in Greece for one year. Nancy Miller heads the committee that planned "Foster Family Feed."

'It's The Woman Who Pays' During Male Recovery Program

The fifth Male Economic Recovery Program will be highlighted by two dances: the Panhellenic semi-formal, Friday April 17, and the WIDC dance on Saturday April 18. MERP Week is that special time in the year when the girls foot the bills and the men wait by the phone for a co-ed to ask them for a date.

The King of the week and his barons will be chosen by the females on campus, Wednesday, April 15.

Theme Contest Prize Will Be Free Ticket

The Junior Prom theme contest, ending April 10, offers as a prize for the theme selected, a free ticket to Junior Prom Weekend, it was announced by Don Wheeler, president of the Junior Class.

Students who have ideas for a theme for the Weekend should call either Don Wheeler or Tom Snow at Theta Chi.

Junior Prom will be held May 8 at New Hampshire Hall and will include the entire weekend. Preliminary plans for the weekend have been made and include beach parties, jazz concerts, and perhaps a dinner.

The Prom Weekend is the second in a series of projects which the Junior Class has sponsored. Last fall, the Class of '54 held a Football Rally, one of the first class-sponsored projects for several years.

The Junior Class is under the leadership of Don Wheeler, president, aided by Jack Atwood, vice-president, Charlotte Anderson, secretary, and William Hutchinson, treasurer.

Voting will take place under T-Hall arch from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. The candidates for King as nominated by the women's dormitories and sororities are Jack Armstrong, Jack Atwood, Skip Baker, Dietrich Bradenburg, Joe Copp, Huck Keany, Dick Keenan, Jere Lundholm, Jon Riisnaes, Dick Snow, and Alan Weeks.

The Panhellenic Council and WIDC are jointly sponsoring MERP Week. The WIDC dance will be held Saturday night at Notch Hall and will be in the tradition of the Old South. No admission will be charged.

Dancing the music of Hal Reeves' orchestra will last until 1 a.m. on Friday evening and the girls will have 1:15 permission for this dance. The price of tickets has been erroneously reported for they will be $2.80 and be on sale in the Bookstore, the Wildcat, the women's dormitories and sororities and at the box office.

Dean Woodruff has announced that those fraternities which will entertain women students on Thursday evening, April 16, from 6:15 p.m. to 10:15 p.m. and Friday, April 17, from 9 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. are required to report to Miss Woodruff the chaperon at the house each night by Tuesday, April 14.

Some Chapters Take Action Students Dislike 'Aryan' Clauses

By the Associated Collegiate Press

Most college students are against discriminatory clauses in fraternity and sorority constitutions.

That was the conclusion of a recent national survey of student opinion by the ACP. Clauses which discriminate against Negroes met with more approval than clauses which discriminate against Jews.

Atomic Energy Show Visits Campus May 1

The nation's most complete atomic energy show will go on exhibition at the University of New Hampshire, May 1-3, under the auspices of the Extension Service, Henry B. Stevens announced at Durham, on April 2. The exhibits will be shown at Kingsbury Hall.

The atomic energy show is being provided by the American Museum of Atomic Energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The Museum, the only one of its kind in the world, is operated for the United States Atomic Energy Commission by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. The Institute is a non-profit educational corporation, comprised of 30 Southern universities. It conducts a broad program of research, training, and education in the nuclear sciences through a contract with the AEC. National sponsor of the atomic energy show is the National University Extension Association, which is made up of state extension services throughout the country.

Details for bringing the show to New Hampshire were worked out with state extension officials and Dr. J. R. Morton, Director of Continuation Education of the University of Alabama and chairman of the NUEA Committee on Atomic Energy.

The poll was taken last December against a backdrop of increasing student dissatisfaction with national bias clauses. Fraternity chapters at Williams, Amherst and elsewhere have recently violated their national constitutions by admitting either a Negro or a Jew. Student governments at more than a dozen universities and colleges have set deadlines for fraternities to get rid of bias clauses on penalty of expulsion.

Last month the student council at Rutgers University, N. J., opened a nationwide drive to help Greek chapters persuade their national organizations to change the clauses.

ACP asked the question:

Some fraternities and sororities have clauses in their constitutions stating that they will accept as members only individuals of the white race. How do you feel about this policy?

The answers:

Approve	25 per cent
Disapprove	65 per cent
No Opinion	7 per cent
Other	3 per cent

"I would have it no other way," says a student from the University of the South, Tenn., referring to all-white fraternities.

A freshman at the University of Nebraska is sorry he approves of bias clauses. "Wish I felt differently," he says, "but habit and training are hard to overcome."

Students in the South are evenly divided on the question, while in the North they are overwhelmingly against discriminatory policies. Here is the breakdown:

	North Per cent	South Per cent
Approve	20	44
Disapprove	71	44

As for policies which limit membership to non-Jews, student opinion is as follows: Approve, 12 per cent; Disapprove, 80 per cent; No opinion, six per cent; Other, two per cent.

"People of the Jewish faith usually have their own fraternities and sororities," says a sophomore coed at Richmond Professional Institute, Va.

Says a senior at the University of Toledo who disapproves of "Aryan" clauses, "I believe in equal rights."

The presidents of campus clubs and organizations have received letters requesting nominations for delegates to the conference.

Students Selected

Students are selected, using the nominations as a guide, by the steering committee on the basis of interest, leadership ability, and desire to take an active part in suggested improvements of the university.

CAT-TALES

Coach Kerr Cites Variance In Basketball of Indiana And of New England in Talk

Since coming to New Hampshire from Anderson College of Indiana, Bob Kerr has been plagued with the usual coaches' malady — after-dinner speaking engagements. The question he finds himself most confronted with at northern New England food celebrations is, "what is the difference between basketball in this area, and the type that is played in the middle west?" The answer to this inquiry is applicable to New Hampshire basketball in an indirect way. In explaining the differences, Bob is quick to point out that not all of New England, and certainly not New York and New Jersey, is far behind Indiana basketball standards.

Good Ball in Southern N. E.

The fact that Kerr admits good ball is played in southern New England, New York and New Jersey is proof that a comparative newcomer to the Durham version of basketball recognizes the problem here. For years, and especially since the war's end, New Hampshire hoop teams have been victimized by rivals whose teams boast height, shooting ability, speed, and above all, depth. Why have the Wildcats been outclassed by schools of comparable size and drawing power? Because their opponents get the lads from the lands of good basketball — southern New England, New York, and New Jersey. But why are boys from these areas so much better than most of the talent we see here? Bob Kerr says there are two reasons: the availability of money, and the resulting adequate facilities.

It's a pretty well-advertised fact that the Almighty Dollar rules athletics the way it does our whole economic system. Therefore, according to Kerr, money is essential. With the cash that is available in "Big Ten" states such as Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois, it has been possible to build basketball powers, and to maintain them.

Admittedly, New England has progressed in the adequacy of its basketball setups. High school basketball is extensive, and even the grammar school leagues are beginning to be recognized as potential sources of college material. But Kerr points out that while these leagues in primary and secondary schools are active in the winter, they fail to meet mid-western standards of basketball because the game is played only a few months of the year, and then the boys are forced into crowded facilities. In Indiana, every city and town, regardless of size, has a court consistently available for play and practice. The boys play 12 months of the year under good conditions, and with ample coaching. In New England, indoor courts are replaced by a hoop and backboard over somebody's garage door, or in the middle of the back yard. The same situation exists in the various park, church, and YMCA leagues. The mid-west offers greater opportunity for more frequent play, under better conditions.

The availability of money then, brings (1) better facilities (2) better coaching (3) a greater number of participants, and (4) a greater length of time in which to play.

Tall Talent

Another advantage enjoyed by the Indiana schools (and those of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey) is the prodigious amount of tall talent on hand. What the reason is Bob Kerr doesn't know, but apparently they grow'em big in the above-mentioned areas. One might think the explanation lay in the large enrollments of the schools; but in Indiana a school of 75 will often have a taller team than one of 1,500 students.

Kerr points out the difference in conception of a "Big" man here, and a big man in the middle west. Here anyone over six feet is considered large; in the land of basketball, the average forward is six feet four or five. Bob sights one game he saw during the Christmas vacation between Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, Mich., high schools. Both teams had six feet six inches centers, and forwards over six-three. The University of Indiana, this year's NCAA champions, had a six-eleven center, a six-ten forward, and a six-five forward on the first team.

But Bob is of the school that believes good basketball players are manufactured as a result of good coaching and long, hard hours on the court. This kind of training is available where money flourished. However, the biggest asset of the middle western high school player is his knowledge of the game's fundamentals, and his ability to apply these fundamentals under constant pressure.

This training is begun in grammar school, applied all summer long, continued in high school with more summer-long play, matured and molded in tournament competition, and developed to a perfection peak in summer play before college.

As a result, the Indiana boy enters college with the ability to fake, drive, set, shoot with either hand, pass and guard. More importantly, he can do all these things against any kind of competition. New Hampshire had such a boy a season back. His name was Jim Poteet.

The priceless ability to perform brilliantly under pressure is acquired by Indiana's best players in tournament competition. In the Hoosier state, a crowd of 7,000 is average, while regional and county playoff games often draw from 10-20,000 spectators. There are no class A, B, and C divisions in Indiana basketball. The more than 780 high schools are all in one class, with the result that a

Interhouse Volleyball On; Theta U Tops in Badminton

Vacation over, activities at New Hampshire Hall are in full swing again. The Interhouse Volleyball tournament will continue this week. Before vacation two games were held. The tournament will continue as follows:

Thurs., April 9, 4 p.m., Alpha Xi vs. Schofield; 5 p.m., Theta U vs. South; Phi Mu vs. Chi O;

Mon., April 13, 4 p.m., Kappa Delta vs. Alpha Chi; North vs. Smith; 5 p.m., open date.

Tues., April 14, 4 p.m., North vs. Phi Mu; Smith vs. Chi O; 5 p.m., Alpha Xi vs. Alpha Chi; Scott vs. Sawyer.

On Wed., April 15 and Thurs., April 16, the play-offs will be conducted. Then the girls will play Softball, Ping Pong, and Archery.

Also in the Interhouse series, Badminton has been completed. In this activity, the girls in each house compete among each other, then the winner and runner-up of each house compete in the All-Campus tournament. Theta U (Marilyn Calkins and Ann Cummings) won this tournament by defeating Alpha Xi (Jane Holway and Cynthia Martin).

The All-Star Basketball team finished their season by defeating Jackson College 40-34, here at the University. They previously had defeated Westbrook Junior College, and had been defeated by Colby Junior College. The All-Star Badminton team played the Jackson Badminton team and lost to them by a score of 3 to 2.

town the size of Milan (pop. 1014) will play schools at Anderson (pop. 60,000), Richmond, Muncie and South Bend. The average schedule is about 18 games, but under tourney rules a team may play as many as 12 or 13 games in playoff competition, making the over-all schedule rather long.

Tourneys Hard Going

The Indiana high school tournament is run in four stages. First, 64 county play-offs are held. Next sectional eliminations are held. The 64 county winners play in 16 sections of the state. In the third step, four regional playoffs are held, each region consisting of four surviving teams. In the finals which are held in Indianapolis, four teams meet in two afternoon games, and the two winners meet for the state title the same evening.

These then are the facts, as reported by coach Kerr. The mid-western, as well as the New York, New Jersey, and southern New England players are better grounded in the game's fundamentals. Through the use of adequate facilities and extensive coaching, they know what to do and when to do it. Good competition and constant pressure makes quick thought a necessity for them. At the moment, New Hampshire's sister schools have a monopoly on this type of boy. But Bob Kerr has a few ideas in that handsome head of his. Look for New Hampshire basketball to take a step up in a year or two.

The points are given on the following basis:

a. 1-point for each team entered in each league competition. (One game minimum must be played.)

b. 1-point for each victory in football, basketball, and softball. Golf, tennis and track will be treated as tournament play and one point for entering. The same tournament rewards All-Point Trophy will be given for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places will prevail.

c. 1/2-point for each tie, not including the tournament championship.

d. 5-points for a tournament champion. 1-point for third place in a tournament.

Although some of the fraternities do not have many points, still they should be praised. It must be remembered that they sometimes have a membership of twenty or less from which to choose. In fact, one house had just enough to gather eleven men for a football team. But they still played, even if they did lose very gae! Then again, some of the small housing units are right up in the thick of the fight, with more points than fraternities with fifty or more men to choose from.

It doesn't take much to at least enjoy yourself by playing on a dormitory, to win a trophy for some sport, tory or fraternity team. It's great, of but it is just as much fun giving some of the big teams a run for their money.

Kappa Sigma is the defending Softball Champ, as they won the championship last year with the aid of Billy "The Greek" Pappas. Bill switched over in mid-season from shortstop to pitcher. But Kappa Sigma is not so happy this year, as Bill will not be eligible, for he is playing gvarsity baseball.

My prediction for intramural softball champ this year is Fairchild dormitory, or Phi Mu Delta. The reason for choosing the former is that they will have a pitcher by the name of Ody Gubardina. Ody, for three consecutive years, has pitched his team to the championship lay offs. This year his team will not be runner-up, but champs, that is, unless Phi Mu Delta beats him. And the reason Phi Mu Delta may win — just loyalty.

Well, anyway, let's all fight to win. The only way for your team to be good is to start practice now. Get out those bats and balls and have a workout. But of course, don't forget your books, Scorebooks, that is! Whatever you do though, be a good sport!

Lou Little Accepts Convo Panel Offer

Lou Little, "Dean of the American College Football Coaches" in point of continuous service to one institution, has accepted an invitation to complete the panel on physical recreation at the University of New Hampshire's convocation, April 24.

The Columbia coach will serve with Rev. Gil Dodds, former indoor mile champion, Andrea Meade Lawrence, Olympic ski star, and Swede Nelson, donor of the Nelson Sportsmanship Award in college football.

Next season will be Lou's 24th at Columbia, where his teams have scored many upsets. Of more than 100 victories for his Lions his most famous was probably the Rose Bowl win over Stanford on Jan. 1, 1934. It was also a Little-coached team which snapped the long Army win streak.

A native of Leominster, Mass., Little played football for Vermont and Pennsylvania. After four seasons of professional football, he coached Georgetown University until moving to Columbia in 1930.

The physical recreation panel, one of the features of the New Hampshire three-day convocation, April 23, 24, and 25, will be held in New Hampshire Hall, Friday afternoon, April 24, at 2:15.

16 Track Lettermen Out For Fairly Weak Squad

OO! — Dick Fitts, indoor track captain, is one of the Wildcat's hopefuls in the weights. Along with 15 other returning lettermen, he will help spark the spring track team.

A group of 16 varsity lettermen form the nucleus of Coach Paul Sweet's varsity track and field squad at the University of New Hampshire which won three out of four dual meets against virtually the same schedule a year ago, and took five of its six dual meets indoors.

The 33-man squad, however, lacks depth, in the opinion of its veteran mentor, and is weak in several events.

Depth is apparently concentrated in the weights, where the Wildcats scored heavily indoors. The muscle brigade is headed by Dick Fitts, a Durham boy who captained the indoor squad, Roy Lindberg, a former Peddie captain, Ronnie Guittarr, who broke the UNH indoor shot put record and held a Bay State schoolboy championship at Watertown high, and Ed Roy, of Amesbury, Mass., son of Sandy Roy, a former UNH athlete, now headmaster at Amesbury high.

One of the stars of the indoor season was diminutive Alan Carlsen of Braintree, Mass., last year's Yankee Conference mile champion. Carlsen, who has captained six teams at UNH in three years, was unbeaten at the mile inside and set a new University record of 4:25. Ev Webber of Concord is back in form in the two mile, the event in which he won the conference crown two years ago.

Despite heavy losses in the dashes, Coach Sweet has two promising sophomore sprinters in Marshall Litchfield of Braintree, Mass., and Bernard Campbell of Hampton. Dick McCormick of Braintree, Mass., was top middle distance runner indoors, and may be pressed by Don Crandall, last year's freshman captain, who didn't run during the winter. Crandall is from Dover.

Captain Dan Hogan of Nashua and Joe Ludwig of Franconstown are flirting with 12 feet in the pole vault, while Johnny Parker, former N. E. Interscholastic champion, injured most of last year, hopes to regain his freshman form in the high jump, when he cleared 6'4. Parker, also a basketball star, comes from Wells, Me. Parker runs the hurdles, along with Bob Potter of Gorham, Bob Bolton of Melrose, Mass., and Milt Kirste of Manchester.

Other lettermen include John Burpee of Manchester in the sprints and broad jump, Warren Lyon of Peterborough in the two mile, and John Reuter of Manchester in the broad jump and high jump.

The first dual meet is with Northeastern at Cowell Stadium on April 18. Other dual meets are scheduled with B.U., Maine and MIT. The Wildcats will also compete in the Yankee Conference meet, the New Englands and the IC-4A meet at New York.

Wildlife Society Movies Tonight-7p.m.

Movies on Fish propagation will highlight tonight's meeting of the Wildlife Society. Several other films and a short business meeting are scheduled for the meeting which starts at 7 p.m. in room 325, Nesmith. Plans for a round-table discussion among students and faculty members on the topic of "Present courses pertaining to wildlife management and possible improvements" will be considered, along with details of the annual outing coming in May.

Bob Hoos to Captain Next Year's Skiers Osgood Headed Frosh

Robert Hoos of Berlin has been elected captain of the 1954 University of New Hampshire varsity ski team, according to an announcement today from Coach Ed Blood.

Hoos succeeds Captain Dick Snow of Laconia, and was elected by a vote of the 1953 lettermen at the annual UNH ski banquet.

Members of the Freshman Ski team voted Dick Osgood of Auburn, Me., honorary captain of the 1953 yearling ski team.

Single Veteran Out For Bob Kerr's First Durham Tennis Team

Coach Bob Kerr's University of New Hampshire tennis team, with only one outdoor practice session behind it, has just over two weeks to prepare for its opening match with Bates College at the Durham courts on April 25.

Coach Kerr, who succeeded Dale Hall this season as varsity net mentor, has only one letterman returning from last year's Wildcat squad. Fred Gaukster of Maplewood, N. J., was the lone veteran reporting before vacation.

Other candidates showing promise in the first workout were Ray Daigle, Jim Dufour, Herb Noumann, and Paul Peterson, all of Manchester, Clark Miller of Portland, Me., and Ed Drouin of Dover.

In addition to Bates, the Wildcats meet Yankee Conference foes Connecticut, Rhode Island and Maine, and will compete in the Yankee Conference tournament at the Durham courts on May 8 and 9.

Exhibit By Winslow Eaves, NH Resident Now In Art Division

An exhibition of sculpture, drawings, and paintings by Winslow Eaves, a New Hampshire artist, will be shown in the Art Division Gallery of the Hamilton Smith Library April 7 through 21. This is Mr. Eaves' first exhibition in New Hampshire.

Mr. Eaves was born in Detroit, in 1922 of Swedish, German and English ancestry. He began his art studies at the Detroit Art Institute, and later studied under Carl Milles at the Cranbrook Art Academy, and with William Zorach at the Art Students League. In 1942, he received the first prize in the Rome Collaborative Competition. He entered the service in 1943, and, on his discharge from the Army in 1945, he became an instructor in sculpture and ceramics at the Munson-Williams-Proctor School of Art. In 1948, he was awarded a first prize in the National Ceramics Exhibition.

The young artist's work has been shown in one-man exhibitions in New York City in 1949, and again in 1951. In July 1951, after studying in Europe under a Fullbright Scholarship, he exhibited his work in Paris.

It was during a summer visit to New Hampshire that Mr. and Mrs. Eaves decided to make the state their home. They now live in West Andover, where Mr. Eaves continues his work in painting and sculpture, and plans to add furniture and crafts to his list of activities. Currently, he spends some time each week teaching for The League of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts.

Over 1000 Students To Participate In Special Convocation Activities

13 Students Chosen Chairmen of Special Convo Committee

A complete list of student committee chairmen for the convocation, "The Enrichment of Lives on University Campus," to be held April 23, 24 and 25, was announced this week by Leighton Gilman, students convocation chairman.

Heading the arrangements committee is Bob Keefe, while working under him are Jerry Miller, ushers; Betty Duffett, registration, Arthur Meyers guides; and Buzz Newman, decorations.

The program committee is headed by Dick Hewitt who has Jere Lundholm, Variety night; Ed Lynn, Organizational exhibits; Bob Ellis, parade; Bud Hildreth, concert; and Shirley Rondow, dance, working under him.

Robin Bonneau is head of the promotion committee assisted by Dick Botley.

These people are working with the adult convocation committee headed by Chairman John Elliot of Madbury. Head of arrangements on Mr. Elliot's committee is Brad McIntire of Durham, while Perkins Bass of Peterborough is chairman of the program. Albert Baker, of Concord, is chairman of the promotion committee.

Also serving on Mr. Elliot's committee are Warren H. Greene, Dr. Robert O. Blood, Blaylock Atherton, Leighton Gilman, George Thomas, Jere Chase, William L. Prince, Lawrence Avison and Dean Everett B. Sackett.

Over 1,000 University of New Hampshire students will be playing prominent roles later this month when the University holds the largest convocation in the history of the school.

Students will be serving on various committees, serving as guides, ushers, and registrars, as well as taking part in numerous student events such as a musical concert, a variety show, a parade, a dance, and organizational exhibits.

The following is a summary of the student events for the convocation which will be held April 23, 24, and 25.

Spring Concert

The Music Department will present its annual Spring Concert Thursday, April 23, at New Hampshire Hall as the climax to Family Day. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Under the baton of Prof. Karl H. Bratton the concert choir, consisting of over 60 picked voices, will perform several numbers as will be the men's glee club under the direction of Joseph Davis, and the women's glee club, which is conducted by Miss Elaine Majchrzak.

The University of New Hampshire symphony orchestra, conducted by Prof. David M. Smith, will also perform and will provide the accompaniment for some of the other groups.

Chairman of the student committee planning the concert is Bud Hildreth, president of Senior Skulls, which will provide the ushers for the program. Admission will be 60 cents.

Campus Varieties

An all-university variety show will be staged at New Hampshire Hall Friday evening at 8:15 p.m. under the direction of Jere Lundholm, president of Blue Key, which will provide the ushers for this event.

The show, with Bob Bonneau and Dick Bouley as masters of ceremonies, will consist of stunts by Chi Omega and Acacia, a skit by Prof. John Karas of the Physics department, a portion of Romeo and Juliet, and appearance by I. C. Stars, the Salamanders, and the Concert Band.

Admission will be 30 cents.

Memorial Union Ball

A semi-formal dance, under the chairmanship of Shirley Rondow, will be held Saturday evening at the freshmen dining hall in Commons with an admission charge of 50 cents being made.

The Wildcats will provide the music for the dance, which will be held from 8:30 until 12, with the girls having 12:15 permission. The coronation of the Memorial Union King and Queen will also take place at this time.

Refreshments will be served by the Mortar Board. Girls are not expected to have flowers for this dance. Formal dress attire is not expected for men.

Among the distinguished guests who are expected to be in attendance are General Walter Bedell Smith, under secretary of state, Sir Roger Makins, British Ambassador to the United States, Gov. Hugh Gregg, President Robert F. Chandler, Jr., University of New Hampshire deans, the convocation and campaign committees, the Alumni Board of Directors, the University Board of Trustees and others.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Eddy, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Eggert.

Granite State Parade

A parade, what is hoped to be the biggest yet in Durham, is planned for Saturday, April 25 at 11:45 a.m. This program is under the direction of Bob Ellis and will consist of floats from the various housing units, bands, the University Drill team and voluntary ROTC units, horses, fire engines, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, queen candidates and other various and sundry items.

The parade will originate on Edgewood Road and proceed down Main Street, Garrison Avenue, Madbury Road, and back up Main street to the point of origin.

A reviewing stand in front of T-Hall will be set up for many of the distinguished guests who will be present. It will also be the point where floats will be judged.

Organization Exhibits

Under the direction of Ed Lynn, organizations will set up exhibits in the Notch Wednesday, April 22, for the three-day convocation. These exhibits will be similar to the exhibit there during last year's High School-University Day. The exhibits will be taken down Saturday evening after 6 p.m.

King and Queen Contest

Women's units will submit candidates for the Memorial Union King; Men's units will submit candidates for the Memorial Union Queen; no two housing units may submit the same candidate, according to the rules announced by the committee. The king and queen will be crowned at the dance on Saturday evening.

Voting for the King and Queen will be held Wednesday, April 22, under the T-Hall arch. Alpha Phi Omega will run the voting booth with Dave Venator in charge.

It took 100 years of engineering

See that tiny speck of oxide on a hair-like wire? It's called a thermistor, and it's the first practical thermally sensitive resistor. It's so sensitive it will measure temperature variations within one-millionth of a degree. As a circuit element and control device, this small, stable and rugged unit has a place in a variety of electrical circuits.

Although the thermistor is the smallest and, in appearance, one of the simplest devices made by Western Electric—manufacturing unit of the Bell Telephone System—it was more than 100 years in the making.

Back in the 19th Century—some time before Western Electric was founded in 1869—Michael Faraday studied a curious thermally sensitive resistor material similar to that used in 20th Century thermistors. As Faraday and others after him discovered, the trouble with making effective use of this material was that different units made by what seemed to be the same process, showed large variations in their behavior. The problem of how to control the amount of impurities present in the material was finally solved a few years ago by our research team mates at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Once beyond the laboratory stage, Western Electric's engineers tackled the job of mass-producing the hard-to-handle oxides. After many trials they got a pilot line in operation—then a full scale production line through which compressed powders of thermistor material could be sintered into a strong, compact and homogenous mass. Today reliable thermistors are being made in many shapes and sizes—small beads, rods, discs, washers—to meet varying circuit and design problems. To make this possible, Western Electric engineers had to find new ways to apply a slurry of oxides on wire; new ways to extrude and mold oxide mixtures.

At every turn, the thermistor has presented fresh challenges to our engineers. Engineering is like that at Western Electric—where technical men of varied skills pool their knowledge in a constant search for new and better ways to do things.

The thermistor takes many forms depending on the resistance and power-handling capacity needed in a particular circuit.

At Western Electric's Allentown (Pa.) Plant hundreds of minute thermistor components are electrically tested and sorted every day. The basic component, an oxide, has a large negative temperature coefficient of resistivity.

Petitions for Student Senate vacancy elections, and class officer elections must be submitted to the ASO office not later than Thursday, April 16, at 5 p.m., it was announced by Charlotte Anderson, chairman of the Executive Council of All Classes, and Gordon E. Wiggin, chairman of the Student Senate Elections Committee.

The elections for both the senate and officers will be held at the respective housing units, April 28, from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Petitions for prospective candidates may be obtained from either the ASO office or the Student Union office until the announced deadline date.

Students desiring to run for these offices may obtain their petitions now, acquire the required number of signatures which is specified on the petition, and must have a 1.8 or better average.

Precinct Voting, inaugurated last fall with the freshmen officer elections, is being run in coordination with the Executive Council of All Classes, and the Student Senate.

Rules, and the final election date will be announced in the near future. Students are advised, however, to acquire their petitions as the time is getting short.

ROTC Asks '55 Veterans To Apply For Adv. Courses

Veterans may apply now for admission to advanced ROTC, according to an announcement by PMS&T Lt. Col. Troy A. Barker.

With certain exceptions, Col. Barker said, applicants will be confined to the class of 1955. Veterans who will graduate prior to June 1955 may be authorized to take a curtailed course.

Each applicant is to appear before a board consisting of three Army officers and Donald H. Richards, director of admissions. Final acceptance of applicants is subject to favorable recommendation by the board, successful completion of a medical examination, and attainment of an accumulative grade point average of at least 1.8 as of the end of the current semester.

Interested veterans should make application in Pettee, or talk with Major Forsyth or Col. Baker, it was said.

Physics and Music Depts. Merge For Student Lecture

The Student Guild of Organists will hold their annual open meeting next Monday evening, April 13, in 209 Demerit at 7 p.m. Dr. Harry H. Hall of the Physics department will speak on the "Physics of Pipe Organ Sound." It is planned to have a set of organ pipes arranged so that Dr. Hall may illustrate his lecture.

The Student Guild is a small group of University students who are particularly interested in organ music and is sponsored by the New Hampshire Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. At a recent meeting Charles Butterfield was elected president and Lyn Thatcher, secretary-treasurer. Prof. Irving Bartley is advisor to the group.

All interested persons are invited to attend Prof. Hall's lecture.

Remember the convocation, April 23, 24, and 25. Invite your friends and relatives.

"The Edwardians", a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of Life Magazine, will be presented in the exhibition galleries of the Hamilton-Smith Library at the University of New Hampshire, April 8 through 22.

The exhibition, a completion of Life's series "History of Western Culture", has three main sections. The first contains pictures of the royal family, the world of fashion, and society pleasures. The second pictures politics at home and abroad. The final section shows new developments in science and literature, with a glimpse of the contemporary theatre.

Judie Feldman Represents N.H. In Washington Festival

Judie Feldman, an Occupational Therapy major from Pittsfield, N. H., has been chosen to represent New Hampshire at the Cherry Blossom Festival by the Pittsfield Businessmen's Association. The festival opened in Washington, D. C., April 8 and continues through 11.

Miss Feldman, a pledge at Alpha Xi Delta, lives in South Congreve. She entered UNH in September 1951.

Essay Contest, Play Run by Spanish Club

Winners of the Cervantes essay contest sponsored by the Spanish Club will be announced on April 16, the same evening of the presentation of "La Cueva de Salamanca". Entries will be accepted until April 15.

A bronze medal and a certificate will be awarded for the winning entry, judged by Mr. David Siesicki.

All entries should be sent to Mr. Siesicki, Language Center, Murkland Hall. It is not necessary to be a member of the club in order to submit an essay. The subject is an intellectual study of the life and works of Cervantes, particularly the "Don Quixote".

To commemorate the anniversary of the death of this great Spanish author the Spanish club is also presenting a short play by Cervantes. The play will be presented in Murkland Auditorium at 8 p.m., April 16.

Doctor Howard Schultz will provide musical accompaniment in certain portions of the play with his guitar and an adapted rendition of "El Rancho Grande".
