UNH has become a member of HathiTrust, a global partnership of major research institutions and libraries that provides access to the largest set of digitized books managed by the academic, research and library community.

Launched in 2008, HathiTrust has a growing membership currently comprising more than 140 institutions. Its members have contributed over 17 million volumes, with more than 6 million of the contributed volumes in the public domain and freely available online. The content made available through HathiTrust has been digitized from member library's collections through Google and Internet Archive initiatives, as well as via in-house institutional efforts. Its holdings offer an unprecedented opportunity to steward the cultural record through increasingly interdependent work that develops capacity and sparks innovation.
