DURHAM, N.H. -- The University of New Hampshire University Advising and Career Center (UACC), in conjunction with the Whittemore School of Business and Economics, and the College of Engineering and Physical Sciences, invites employers from across the state and region to participate in the 2004 UNH Career and Internship Fair.

The fair will be held at UNH from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 12, 2004, in the Granite State Room at the Memorial Union Building.

The fair is focused on business, engineering, computer science and physical sciences and will enable area businesses to promote their organizations to students and identify candidates for interviews, leadership programs and post-graduation employment in December 2004 or May 2005.

The fair will attract the following UNH majors: business administration, accounting and finance, international business, economics, hospitality management, marketing, management, decision science, computer science, computer engineering, civil engineering, mechanical engineering, chemical engineering, electrical engineering, mathematics and statistics, chemistry, physics, and Earth sciences (geology and hydrology).

Job fair registration fee includes wireless Internet access, food vouchers for two, free parking for one vehicle (strictly enforced), unloading/loading assistance, and advance publicity to the students. Most tables will not have access to electricity. To register visit <http://www.unh.edu/career-services/fairs.html>. The registration deadline is Sept. 30.
