

R. Kelley, VT FPR

Hemlock Woolly Adelgid “Look-Alikes”

Remember that hemlock woolly adelgid (pictured above):

- Has “wool” that is attached to the twig not the needle.
- Is immobile when covered in wax
- Is waxy, not silky or stretchy
- Is wispy like a cotton ball, not fabric-like
- Has separate balls of “wool”
- Doesn’t look painted on (like pine sap)

S. Costa, UVM

CT Agricultural Expt Station, Bugwood.org UGA1178011

D. Ouelette, ME - FS

A. Kanoti, ME - FS

If you think you've found hemlock woolly adelgid or elongate hemlock scale REPORT IT! Note the location, take a photo, and call your state department of forestry or agriculture:

VT: 802-879-5687

NH: 603-464-3016

ME: 207-287-2431

Forest health programs in the states of Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine are supported, in part, by the US Forest Service, State and Private Forestry, and conducted in partnership with departments of agriculture, USDA-APHIS, universities, cooperating landowners, resource managers, and citizen volunteers.