Tuesday, September 28, 2021

After a pair of weather-related postponements, UNH hosted its annual University Day (Uday) celebration on Sept. 22, welcoming students, staff and faculty to Main Street to celebrate the start of the academic year and explore a wide variety of offerings from student groups and local vendors.

Members of the UNH community converged on the Great Lawn at T-Hall, where dozens of clubs, student organizations, fraternities and sororities and academic outlets were on hand to share information and increase student membership.

Activities included face painting and a climbing wall as well as performances by the UNH marching band and UNH gymnastics and aerial dance.
