Three members of the UNH community were recognized among the most influential business leaders in the state by NH Business Review as part of its New Hampshire 200 list, with honorees celebrated at a reception Thursday, Dec. 9 in Manchester.

UNH had representatives from the Durham, Manchester and law school campuses featured on the list, with honorees including Jim Dean, president of UNH; Mike Decelle, dean of UNH Manchester; and Lucy Hodder, professor of law and director of the health law and policy program at the UNH Franklin Pierce School of Law and UNH Institute for Health Policy and Practice.

The UNH honorees were among a group of 14 leaders recognized in the education category. The full list was compiled to highlight the 200 people “with the greatest impact on the state’s economy, business climate and quality of life,” according to Jeff Feingold, editor of NH Business Review, in the New Hampshire 200 print publication.
