DURHAM, N.H. – The University of New Hampshire will host the “Social Innovation Internship Showcase” Wednesday, July 26, 2017, from 10 a.m.-noon, followed by a networking reception for attendees, as a concluding event of the summer social innovation internship program.

Now in its 7th year, this annual event is an opportunity for the selected students to share what they achieved interning at innovative organizations focused on people, planet, and profits. Last year’s showcase attracted people from business, government, nonprofits, and higher education. Audience members come away educated and inspired by students and their views on sustainable social change. Since 2011, the internship program has placed 81 students in leading businesses and nonprofits for rigorous paid summer internships at the intersection of money and mission.

The social innovation internship is a signature program of the Center for Social Innovation and Enterprise (CSIE) (<http://unh.edu/social-innovation>). It is one of the keys ways that CSIE creates transformative applied learning opportunities for UNH students by connecting them to leading for-profit and nonprofit organizations for a rigorous and meaningful summer internship and providing mentorship and training in social innovation.

All summer interns will present at the showcase.
