DURHAM, N.H.—The University of New Hampshire Peter T. Paul College of Business and Economics invites companies to the semi-annual Paul Projects Capstone Consulting Fair at its Center for Business Analytics Friday, Nov. 19, 2021, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Companies must register by Nov. 10; lunch will be served.

This event is open to all businesses, from startups to Fortune 500 companies. The university's multidisciplinary student teams, under the guidance of faculty members, have helped clients develop prototypes, implement proof-of-concepts, conduct research and implement new technologies.

Companies are encouraged to visit the Durham campus, showcase their products and services, and discuss their capstone project proposals with prospective student teams. This is an opportunity to collaborate with other businesses, thought leaders and students. If unable to attend the event, register and a member of the capstone team will contact you.

Students interested in the following fields will be participating in the event
