DURHAM, N.H. - The outdoor pool at the University of New Hampshire remains closed due to a damaged filter. Crews are expected to work through the weekend to make the repair once parts arrive Friday and the pool is tentatively scheduled to reopen late next week.

The university's indoor pool in the Field House on Main Street and Mendum's Pond will continue to be available for all swimmers with an outdoor pool pass. Swimming lessons will continue as scheduled at the indoor pool.

The university regrets any inconvenience. Any updates will be posted at www.unh.edu.
